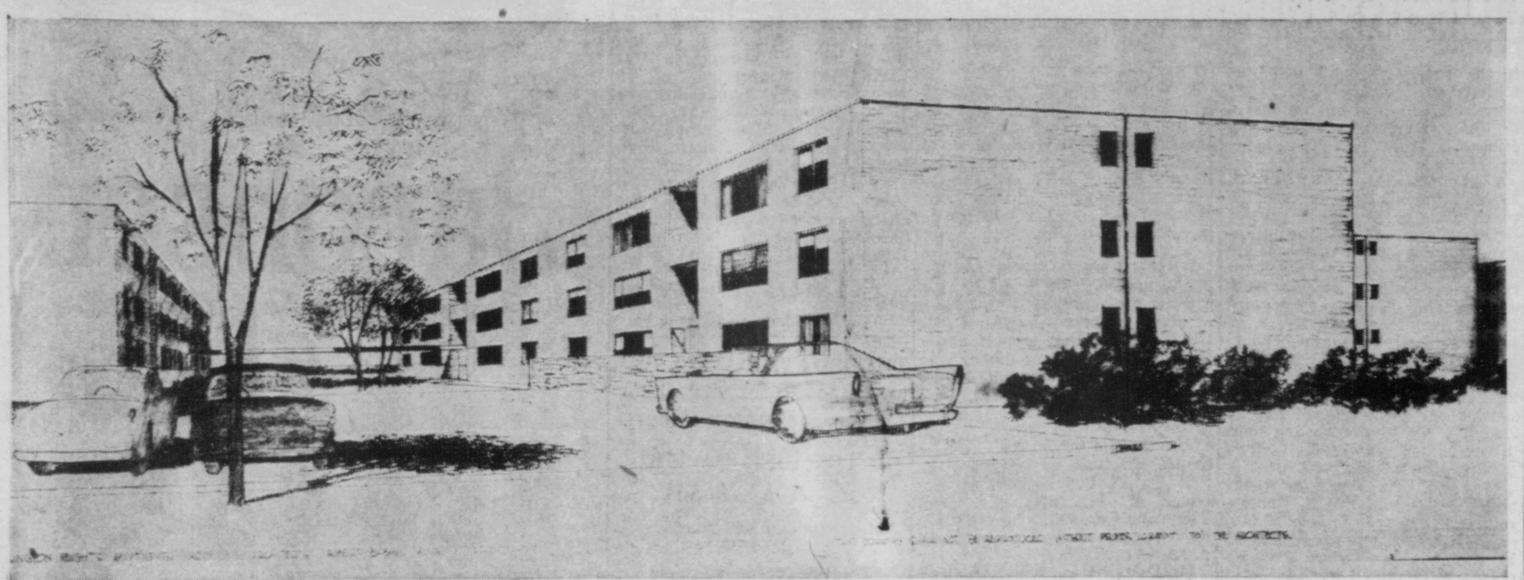
Announce Plans for New Apartment House Project



THIS IS AN ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of several of the five apartment buildings to be constructed on Dryden pl. in Arlington Heights. The project, estimated to cost a total of $1.5 million, will contain 120 apartments. It is directly across from Arlington Market shopping center.

Plans for construction of five apartment buildings with 120 living units, the largest such project to date in Arlington Heights, was announced this week.

The development will be located on the east side of Dryden pl., directly south of Miner Junior high school and across the street from Arlington Market.

BUILDINGS WILL be of three-story heights and have face brick exteriors. Each will contain 24 apartments. Half of the units will have two bedrooms, half one bedroom and rentals will range from $130 to $170 per month.

The builder will be Arlington Heights Apartments, inc., 35 E. Wacker, Chicago, of which Irving B. Green, Chicago, is president. The development will be known as the Arlington-Dryden apartments.

Parking for 120 autos will be provided at the rear, with access and egress from Dryden. The five buildings will be placed cross-wise on the property, which has about 600 feet of frontage on Dryden and 250 feet of depth.

FEATURES WILL include air conditioning, all-electric appliances, some wood paneling, tile bath, built-in fruitwood kitchen cabinets, ample closets and storage and laundry facilities in the basement. Also, all interior walls will be plastered and window frames will be of auminum and there will be separate dining areas.

A decorative vinyl-impregnated space divider between kitchen and living area will be an innovation.

Architect for the project is Robert Babbin and Associates, Chicago. The firm also designed the Dunton Court shopping plaza and several other local projects.

LOCAL RENTAL agent is Walter Krause of Krause and Kehe, 1 E. Campbell. He has been one of the most active local realtors for 33 years.

Completion of the project is scheduled for the end of the current year but apartments may be reserved immediately, noted Krause.

Green said that the total cost of the development will approximate $1.5 million. Financing has been arranged through H. Levinson, inc., mortgage banker, Chicago. General contractor is Ray Construction co. of Barrington, Ray L. Tucker, president.

The property was rezoned from one-family residential to multiple-dwelling several years ago to serve as a "buffer zone" for the shopping center across the street.

This is the largest of four sizeable apartment projects announced for the village within three months. Two others totaling about 110 units will be built on N. Salem ave., west of the village garage, and a third smaller building, also to have offices, is planned for S. State rd.

Officials Organize Government Council

To Discuss Mutual Problems

Top officials of the four largest taxing bodies in Arlington Heights will chew over the community's problems informally around the conference table in the future.

An unofficial organization is now in the process of formation by representatives of the village, park district, school district 25 and Arlington high school district. The fourth of these is the only unit of government which serves an area much larger than the village.

THE GROUP held its first meeting at South junior high school last Thursday night and plans on meeting four times a year, on the first Wednesday of September, December, March and June. Special meetings will be called if necessary.

The 8-man group, to be called the Intergovernmental Council of Arlington Heights, will have as members the four elected heads of each district and the administrative chief of each body.

They are Kenneth E. Dougan, president of the high school board; H. L. Slichenmyer, high school superintendent; L. W. Bredehoft, grade school board president; R. E. Clabaugh, grade school superintendent; Warren White, park board president; Thomas Thornton, park director; Edward G. Carlisle, village president, and J. Ward Wright, acting village manager.

WRIGHT, ORGANIZER of the group, told his trustees Tuesday the group "wouldn't offer a panacea, but at least all the problems would be laid out on the table." Minutes will be kept of the discussions to apprise board members of the proceedings. The village board, which has been squabbling with the elementary school board over how much, if any, control the village should exercise over school construction, readily endorsed the new high-level group.

The organization won't have authority to take any action binding upon its parent bodies, but Wright hopes its recommendations "will be given serious consideration in all future action and that their co-ordinated activities will prove most beneficial in solving community-wide problems."

The Editor's Column

By STUART R. PADDOCK

We hear a lot about municipal master plans, but a master plan for our schools is becoming just as important.

Palatine Township high school board needs additional sites.

Arlington last year doubled its capacity by erection of a second high school. As a safeguard for the future, it also purchased an additional 40 acres on Hintz road, north of Arlington Heights, and has three other tracts under option. They are south of Wheeling, northern part of Elk Grove and in Elk Grove village.

As one Arlington Heights official told us this week, "with the value of lands continually rising, a school board can't lose on the purchase or options on additional lands."

At present, Palatine high school's master plan is only in the thinking stage, but its members are faced with some big problems. The purchase two years ago of 40 acres at Quentin road and Illinois street, is not the answer for future years.

Its bonding power is not sufficient to erect a 2,500 pupil school on those 40 acres, yet additional classroom space must be ready within two years.

Is the answer erection of smaller school units as they are needed and purchase of a third school site, possibly in Schaumburg?

We do not relish the responsibility that has fallen upon the shoulders of the high school board members.

Here is a new school thought given to us this week.

Will the family that is causing the crowding in the elementary schools remain in their small homes when those children are ready for high school or will they be moving into "town?"

We hope they will remain. If they move, other families with small children will be moving in, thereby increasing the load on the elementary schools and increasing the potential for high schools.

TV programs indulge in commercials, why not our advertising department?

"The man who stops using advertising to save money is like the man who stops the clock to save time."

Public Library Plans Expansion

If all the books owned by the Arlington Heights Memorial library were in the library at one time, they'd be stacked up on the floor for lack of shelving space.

That statement by librarian Mrs. Charles Stadelman explains the need for a library improvement planned for the coming year.

In the 1958-59 budget presented to the village board Tuesday, funds are allotted for double decking of the central section of the building. When the building was constructed in 1952, the height and foundations of the center section were planned to accommodate a second deck.

PAUL E. PATRICK, president of the library board, said the new shelving will increase book storage capacity by about 20 per cent.

Another improvement planned is a complete redecorating of the interior and the book and periodical budget has been upped by about one-third to $7,400, he added. The budget also provides for paying the $1,000 cost of paving the rear parking lot, recently completed. Salaries of six part-time and one full-time employees were also increased to bring them into line with those in nearby communities.

The current budget is $47,535, compared with $28,415 actually spent during the fiscal year that ended May 1.

High School Option on 69 Acre Site

Arlington high school district 214 has taken an option on 65.97 acres of land on Hintz rd., a quarter mile east of Wolf rd., in Wheeling township.

Presently owned by Henry Carnehl, the property is priced at $3500 per acre. Only 40 acres would be used for a future high school, the remainder to be sold at a later date.

Besides the Arlington and Prospect high school grounds, the district owns 40 acres at Buffalo Grove rd. and Hintz rd. in Wheeling township and has an option on 38 acres on Arlington Heights rd. at Biesterfield rd., 40 acres on Goebbert rd., between Algonquin and Golf rds; and the new Hintz rd. site.

IN A BOND issue election this summer, voters will be asked to approve the purchase of the Carnehl property as well as the Goebbert rd. site, priced at $3000 per acre.

Unwanted Elephants Can't Duck Suburban Limelight

by BOB BUCHANAN

"Wha-a-at's that, lady?" the puzzled state trooper queried.

"I said I have three elephants in my back yard," a woman's voice at the other end of the line insisted.

"That's what I thought you said — and where do you live?" asked the trooper.

"IT'S THE FIRST house west of Rohlwing rd. on Algonquin rd.," she replied.

"What did you say they were doing?" questioned the puzzled trooper.

"They're in my garden picking flowers," she responded.

At that, the trooper at state police headquarters at Irving Park and Harlem immediately dispatched the nearest patrol car to the home of Mr .and Mrs. Arthur W. Vaught.

It was one of the weirdest calls district no. three had ever received, but what Mrs. Vaught said was exactly true.

BY THE TIME police arrived, the elephant's trainer had rounded up his three stray hulks and returned them to a neighboring barn behind the gas station at Rohlwing and Algonquin rds.

This wasn't the first time the elephants had found themselves unwelcome guests. Tuesday, June 5 they were exiled from Westgate shopping center during a six-day circus.

Reason was simple: Some Westgate residents couldn't sleep the previous Sunday and Monday night due to the beasts.

For more than 10 days, the unwanted elephants roamed the fields of northwest Cook county.

MISSING THEIR usual crowds of peanut throwers, the animals spotted a friend in next-door-neighbor, Mrs. Vaught. Several times they wandered towards her, only to be returned by the trainer.

However, Saturday the trainer had other chores. He was cleaning the barn. He didn't notice them. But the elephants noticed Mrs. Vaught outside her home and wanted new company.

When the huge beasts came too close, Mrs. Vaught said she didn't want to take any chances "even though they seemed friendly."

SHE HEADED FOR the safety of her home and watched. When the elephants couldn't take hold of the closely cut grass and began uprooting plants, she called state police.

As a closing note, Mrs. Vaught reported the elephants and their trainer left the following morning. It was not learned whether the elephants had another job performing before new crowds or just wanted a "more welcome" neighborhood.

Widening Of Streets Under Way

Widening of Evergreen, Vail and Highland aves. south of the tracks in downtown Arlington Heights will begin today or tomorrow. Work is expected to begin within several days on the north side widening project.

The third downtown special assessment project, installation of 102 new street lights, will begin later this summer.

The village board Tuesday authorized laying of street lighting conduit now by contract. The widening and lighting jobs were to have begun at the same time but delays in the lighting program would have held back the widening had the board not acted.

Police Capture Missing Teenagers

Wheeling police captured two 19-year-old boys and their 15 - year - old brides Sunday night, six days after the four left their northwest suburban homes, bound for Mississippi and marriage.

The two boys pleaded guilty in Arlington Heights police court yesterday to a charge of larceny of $81 from a filling station in order to get cash for the trip. Magistrate William F. Neumann sentenced both to six months in Cook county jail.

THE GIRLS appeared in county Family court Monday and were released to the custody of their families pending final disposition of their cases.

The boys are John Carlson, 1707 N. George, just north of the Arlington Heights village limits, and Gary Schweigert, of 1318 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

Carlson, who has a previous prison record, asked to be sent to Vandalia state prison farm instead of county jail "because I can't get along in county jail."

Assistant State's Attorney Eldred Benz had recommended a one-year sentence for the boys.

BOTH THE BOYS and girls, Dianne Bennett, of 36 E. Wilson, Palatine, and Patricia Winters, 1720 N. Lynnwood, just northwest of the Arlington Heights village limits, had been missing from their parents' home since early Monday evening but police did not suspect they were together until one girl's mother reported her missing early Wednesday.

Arlington Heights police officers said the boys burglarized a gas station at Euclid ave. and Northwest hwy. about three a.m. Tuesday, a few hours after the boys had picked up the girls, and they left for Mississippi a few hours later in Schweigert's car. Arriving in Holly Springs, Miss., Wednesday morning, they were married by a justice of the peace. Miss Winters married Carlson whom she had known "two or three weeks," and Miss Bennett married Schweigert.

Neither girl had the consent of her parents, both admitted in court. Minimum age for marriage in Mississippi without consent of parents is 18 for girls.

After a short stay in the state, the teens returned to Chicago, where they received a traffic ticket for driving the wrong way down a one-way street. Schweigart called his mother Thursday, told her of the two marriages and hung up when asked their whereabouts.

FROM THURSDAY until Sunday the four rode around Chicago in their car,said police. They returned to the northwest area Sunday morning and were seen by a parent who notified police. One of the girls was to pick up clothes but did not enter the home when she saw her parents there.

Wheeling police Chief Marvin Horcher spotted the car at a Wheeling gas station at 7:15 p.m. Sunday and apprehended. them.

Magistrate Neumann fined both boys $100 and court costs in addition to the jail term.

Super Mart Zone Decision June 30

A final decision on a rezoning for a proposed A & P supermarket in Westgate is expected from the Arlington Heights zoning board Monday, June 30.

A hearing on the rezoning will begin at 8 p.m. in the village hall. The matter has been before the board since last December.

REZONING OF A lot on the east side of Wilke rd., several hundred feet south of Westgate shopping center, was tentatively approved by the board in March.

However, the question was referred to the plan commission with a request for an adequate plan for development of the east 300 feet of the four-acre lot. It is owned by Laura J. Meyer, 104 S. Wilke rd.

The plan commission has approved subdivision of the rear parcel into seven residential lots, to be clustered around a cul-de-sac to enter from Sigwalt st.

THE LOTS vary from 8,738 to 11,655 square feet and exceed village requirements.

The grocery chain will erect a food mart on the Wilke rd. end of the property, according to the realty firm of George W. Prassas co. The food mart would be on a lot with 323 feet of frontage and 300 feet of d

Westgate home owners previously objected to the rezoning at several zoning hearings.

Slate Hearing for Fernandez Paving

A formal public hearing on the paving of Fernandez st., adjoining Pioneer park, will be held by the Arlington Heights board of local improvements at the village hall at 8 p.m. tonight.

There will also be an informal hearing on a proposal to improve a five-block section of Frederick st. east of State rd.

Father Is King for a Day; Honored by Local Subjects

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Most Father's day celebrations in our town followed a pattern that by now seems to be typical and time honored—the king is taken out to dinner by his loyal and loving subjects, then brought home to relax the day away in his favorite lounge chair. There were fathers of the brides-to-be, too, who shared the social spotlight of the week with daughters being feted at pre-nuptial showers, and dads who shared the guest-of-honor spot at dual purpose celebrations.

GILBERT KROHN was a "most happy fella" at his Father's day celebration that was also a welcome home party for his son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. Richard A. Hartert, recently returned from Germany. In honor of the doubly happy occasion 30 Chicago, Milwaukee and local relatives were guests at the Krohn home, 542 S. Dunton, Sunday evening, reuniting with the newly-returned couple at an outdoor barbeque in the Krohn garden.

The Harterts arrived in the United States early this month after three years in Banaheim and Darmstadt, Germany, and will leave for Ft. Eustice, Va. the latter part of the month. The lieutenant's father, Eric Hartert, was among the Milwaukee guests here Sunday and with the Krohns is wasting no time in getting reacquainted with grandchildren, Laura Jean, who was 2 years old, and Ricky, who was only 6 weeks old when they left for Germany three years ago.

A FATHER'S DAY outdoor barbecue at the Charles Locascio home, 1105 N. Walnut, afforded 30 Des Plaines and Chicago members of the family a chance to greet Mr. Locascio's brother, Michael, who arrived here Saturday from New Mexico to spend a week with the senior Locascios in Des PLAINES.

When mother's birthday falls on Father's day, as it did this year for the Vincent Weidners, they appreciate the need to spread out the celebrations. Dinner out Saturday night with Mrs. Weidner's brother and his fiancee, and receiving friends and neighbors at home Sunday served nicely to make it a happy birthday for Mrs. Weidner and a happy Father's day for the man of the house.

DOUBLE BRIDAL showers are a natural prelude to a double wedding, and Marilyn and Suzanne Franke, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franke, 120 S. Pine, have thus naturally been co-guests of honor at recent pre-nuptial parties. Both girls will be married in First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights June 28, Marilyn becoming the bride of Vance Gustafson of San Diego and Suzanne becoming Mrs. John Eakins.

Additional momentum to the Franke family's June excitement was furnished with the graduation June 10 of Suzanne from Indiana university in Bloomington. "Sana," as she is best known, majored in elementary education and was graduated with distinction.

LAST WEDNESDAY evening Sana was feted by 15 former Arlington Heights high schoolmates in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. Donald Rash at a surprise kitchen shower. Other guests were Mrs. Franke and Sana's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Harkin, and Mrs. G. Melvin Eakins, mother of the groom-to-be, all of Arlington Heights.

Saturday afternoon Marilyn and Sana were honored by their former Sunday school teachers and other church associates of the Christian Science church at the home of Mrs. Walter Hermesdorf, 115 S. Highland, where 20 guests showered the brides-elect with gifts for the kitchen.

MRS. M. W. PRELLBERG and Mrs. Roger Ryden were co-hostesses Tuesday evening at another shower-for-two in the Prellberg home, 1237 N. Dunton. Twenty friends and classmates of Marilyn and Sana, and their mother and grandmother, presented each of the girls with a group gift.

A shower at the Chicago home of their aunt, Mrs. Edwin O'Malley, on Sunday afternoon added to the merry-go-round whirl of activity of the brides-to-be, when they received the felicitations of 30 Chicago relatives and family friends.

THE CLIFF WARFFUELS, 734 S. Mitchell, have been in the mood for a neighborhood outdoor barbecue supper and the birthday Saturday of one of the neighbors provided a good excuse for having one. Eleven couples gathered in the Warffuel backyard for fun and food until late rainfall converted the outdoor party to an indoor party. Mrs. Glen Carlson was rewarded for having a birthday to celebrate with a shower of "goofy gifts" that included a set of toy garden tools to abet her admittedly unsuccessful attempts at gardening.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sorensen and the children, 1051 S. Dunton, returned home by plane in the early hours Monday morning after a month in Florida. They divided their vacation time with visits to the senior Mrs. Louis Sorensen in Coral Gables and in Perrine with Miss Peggy Runge.

MRS. HENRY HANIGAN, 903 N. Dunton, welcomed the arrival Saturday of her mother, Mrs. Adam Balzer and her aunt, Mrs. Alfred Paul, both of Long Island, N.Y. Mrs. Balzer and Mrs. Paul will spend two weeks here at the Hanigan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jacobsen, 745 S. Vail, are enjoying a visit from their daughter and grandsons, Mrs. Ralph Carver, Curtis and Mark, who are concluding a 3-week vacation here. Mr. Carver arrived here yesterday to spend a few days with the Jacobsens before the return trip with his family to their home in Columbia, Mo. this weekend.

MRS. J. D. CRITTENDEN, 311 S. Dunton, attended the recent graduation of John McClaughry, former Arlington Heights resident, from Miami university in Oxford, Ohio. An Arlington Heights high school graduate, Mr. McClaughry was graduated cum laude and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. He expects to be visiting here from time to time during the summer at the Crittenden home and will return to the university in the fall to teach freshman algebra, eventually furthering his study of nuclear physics at an eastern university.

Ronald Prellberg, son of the M. W. Prellbergs, 1237 N. Dunton, has moved his family from Springfield to a new home in Indianapolis. His brother, Marvin of Palatine, expects to be the frequent guest of his parents as he "batches" it while his wife and family spend a few weeks in Atlanta visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cheney.

MR. AND MRS. BARRETT Rogers recently returned home to 312 N. Dwyer after 10 days in Pennsylvania and Ohio. They spent a week in Bedford Springs, Pa. where Mr. Rogers attended a convention, then went on to visit their son, David, and his family in Cincinnati. Their final stop was in Oxford, Ohio for son, Curtis, who returned home with them after completing his studies for the year at Miami university.

A guest this week at the Rogers home is Mrs. Robert Elsner of Milwaukee who arrived yesterday to spend a few days.

MRS. MORRY SCHALIN, 836 N. Dunton, introduced a new arrival to the block at a "coffee and" morning party Monday. Nine neighbors met and welcomed Mrs. Norman Brown to that congenial neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Tom, 10½, and 7-year-old Steve moved into the residence at 830 N. Dunton from a former home in Deerfield about two weeks ago.

JUNE BRIDE Deanna Ziebell, daughter of Mrs. Sylvia Ziebell, 714 S. Highland, was feted Sunday at a kitchen shower given by her aunt, Mrs. Florence Pedersen of Mt. Prospect, where 20 family members and the groom's mother, Mrs. John Heintz, honored the bride-to-be.

At a previous bridal party in her honor, Miss Ziebell was showered with miscellaneous gifts by 20 former high shcool friends at the home of Mrs. Sharon Jackson, 549 W. Euclid.

Miss Ziebell will be married Saturday in candlelight services at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights to John Heintz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Heintz, 518 S. Vail. After a 2-week honeymoon trip to the west, Mr. and Mrs. Heintz will reside in Arlington Heights.

WHILE THEIR brides are being showered with gifts, the grooms are showered with advice at the traditional bachelor dinners. Among the recent honor guests at such a gala dinner was Bert Goldthwaite, hosted Saturday night by his best man, Dick Riley, at a dinner for eight in the home of the Earl Rileys, 738 S. Chestnut. The groom-elect, son of the A. E. Goldthwaites, 426 E. Park, will leave Friday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Riley, for Oshkosh, where he will be married Saturday to Jane Anne Seefeld.

Local families have received the announcement of the coming marriage of Terrance W. Frakes, son of former Arlington Heights residents and graduate of the Arlington Heights high school in 1956. Mr. Frakes will be married July 5 to Nancy Louise Mc Arthur of Glenview in the Glenview Methodist church.

THE SUCCESS of a Father's day concert of the Town and Country mixed chorus was celebrated Monday with an outdoor barbecue supper at the Mt. Prospect home of Mrs. Harvey Hoffman. Local members of the chorus include its director, Mrs. Ervin Westfahl; president of the group, Wally Luettschwager; Mrs. Norman Weider, Mis Barbara Westfahl, Mrs. James Watson, Mrs. Joseph Kalous, Don Herman, Don Whiting and Bill Moore. With their husbands and wives, the 35 members of the chorus enjoyed a social evening, harmonized for their own entertainment and completed plans for a performance Monday night at the Lutheran Home for the

An advertisement in a northshore newspaper offering for sale a Stonegate house in Arlington Heights is headed "Champagne Taste—Beer Income."

We do not know if Stonegate people live on a champagne or a beer income, but the advertisement says it is $12,000 cheaper to live in Arlington.

Here is the lowdown on real estate assessment on which next year's taxes are to be based.

If you think that your present land assessment is too high, take your 1957 tax bill to the office of the county treasurer.

After you learn the amount of your assessment for 1958 taxes that has been applied to your property, you can either make a protest or consider yourself lucky it has not been increased over 1957.

We hope that the Cook county zoning board will approve a change in the zoning ordinance that will prevent advertising sign boards along the main highways in unincorporated areas.

It is bad enough to have advertising signs mar the landscape within villages, but it is a lot worse to have signs mar the green fields.

Business firms seem to vie with each other to see who can show the "loudest" sign. More power to the zoning board.

Leave it to Joe Meek of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association to find the "nigger in the woodpile."

Our state legislators are in Springfield with the intention of increasing the number of weeks that unemployment wages can be collected.

Granted that present and future unemployment taxes will pay the $34 million that it will require, he points out a hidden fact that will materially affect all business firms.

He says, "if benefits are extended, employers had better prepare for the shock they are going to get next year when they discover what extension of benefits has done to their unemployment compensation contribution rate."

Township assessors are busy estimating values of personal property of those who failed to file the schedule sent to them.

"I do not enjoy fixing that extra penalty, but I am required to do it," said one local assessor.

It is our guess that when the personal property tax is ended, it will be supplanted by an income tax, which will cost the individual a whole lot more money.

Traffic Council To Meet

Plans to deal with the annual summer traffic crush and its attendant hazards to life and limb will be made at the second meeting of the Arlington Heights Area Traffic Safety council next Wednesday evening.

The meeting, open to the public and any organization, will be held at the north side fire station at 8 p.m.

Sewer Contracts Now Under Way

More than $6 million in sewer projects between Mt. Prospect and Palatine are now under contract by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

The latest contract, in the amount of $954,180, was let by the sanitary district Thursday for installation of an intercepting sewer along a 2 mile route in Rohlwing road from Hicks road in Rolling Meadows to Kenilworth avenue in Palatine.

It will be an extension of a $3.5 million sanitary sewer project now under construction along a 6.7 mile route between Mt. Prospect and Palatine.

SANTUCCI Construction co., winner of the latest contract, is extending the district's interceptor system further northwest from its present terminus at the west edge of Mt. Prospect. This 6.7 mile leg will skirt the southern end of Arlington Heights and push its way northwest up through Rolling Meadows.

At Hicks road in Rolling Meadows the section now under contract will turn northwest until it connects with the Palatine treatment works.

The two sewer arms will form a "V" at Hicks road, stretching into Palatine.

The project let under contract Thursday will serve the east section of Palatine, which is too low to drain to the west where the other intercepting sewer will be.

THE SANTUCCI company also is handling the $2 million project of installing 7.4 miles of combined sanitary - storm sewers in Mt. Prospect.

The contract awarded Thursday was almost $200,000 above sanitary district engineers' estimate of $766,000, but the job was let anyway.

William A. Dundas, general superintendent, told the trustees that "very bad ground has been encountered in this area." He mentioned that the Santucci company ran into quicksand in sinking tunnel shafts about 30 feet deep in a section south of Arlington Heights.

"We were fearful that if we did readvertise, we'd get higher prices," Dundas said.

Can the Santucci company handle all of this work? It involves more than 16 miles of sewer installation.

"We," Dundas answered, "went into this very thoroughly. Santucci confirms the fact that it has all the necessary personnel and equipment to carry on all the work the company has."

It'll be at least a year before all of the jobs are completed, said Horace P. Ramey, sanitary district chief engineer. (B8

Juvenile Officers Cite Training, Experience Needs

Lack of training and experience was a prime topic of discussion among 150 members of the Cook County Juvenile Officers' association attending their third annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman last week.

Area authorities present included Lt. Arnold F. Krause and Sgt. Howard Koeppen, Wheeling police department; Lt. Ambrose E. Kranz, Mt. Prospect police; Chief Cy Campbell, Ralph R. Evans, George Gallanis and Bert Trager, Rolling Meadows police.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart R. Paddock were special guests of the association.

IN A SURVEY reported by Capt. Richard W. Boone, association communications and training committee chairman, out of 114 officers 71 per cent said they began work with no special training and 44 per cent said they had less than one year's experience.

Also of concern to 58.7 per cent was the fact that their fellow officers either understood very little of the importance of juvenile work, or didn't understand or care about it at all.

In a talk before the group, Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman urged police departments to train and delegate 10 per cent of their forces to working with juveniles.

"NO MORE THAN 1.5 per cent of police manpower throughout the nation is assigned to juveniles," he said, "but nearly 50 per cent of serious crime is committed by persons under 18."

The Juvenile Officers' association, founded in May, 1956, has 187 members from 100 suburban police departments, the Chicago and park district forces, and the sheriff's police. (B8

Five Persons Injured In Head-on Collision

Eighteen persons were injured in 10 auto accidents throughout northwest Cook county during the past week.

Most serious accident sent five persons to Resurrection hospital when two autos collided head-on on Higgins rd. a mile west of Illinois 83 early Sunday.

Rushed to Resurrection were Martin J. Melvin, 39, of 131 S. Forest ave., Hillside; Edward P. Rotchford, 24, of 7943 Catherine ave., Norwood Park township; Louise Melissa, 18, of 1850 N. Mohawk ave., Chicago; Carole Kozlowski, 19, of 505 LaVergne, Northlake; and James Zaloudek, 25, of 5616 W. Grace, Chicago.

COOK COUNTY deputies issued Melvin a ticket for driving on the wrong side of the road. Melvin's auto was found straddling the center line when deputies arrived. The other car, driven by Rotchford, had its rear wheels in a ditch with the front wheels still on the road.

Damage to the 1958 Melvin car was $900 and the 1956 model Rotchford car was declared a total loss.

Four youths were injured Friday when the driver drove around a barricade on Higgins rd. a half-mile west of Shoe Factory rd. and crashed into construction equipment.

Injured were Ralph Lunde, 19, 2403 W. Foster, Chicago, the driver; Carol Meek, 17, of 4939 N. Broadway, Chicago; Amelia Cook 19, of 921 W. Wilson, Chicago; and Hubert Conley 3907 Sheridan rd., Chicago. Damage to the Lunde car was placed at $500.

LESS THAN AN hour later at the same location LeRoy F. Reuter, 503 Grove, Barrington, also ran around a barricade and also collided with Construction equipment. He was uninjured but damage to his auto amounted to $1,700.

In another Hanover township accident, Santo Biscaglia, 64, of 4061 N. Elston, Chicago, was taken to Sherman hospital, Elgin, after he apparently fell asleep, his car leaving the road and hitting several posts before overturning. The accident occurred on Shoe Factory rd. near Sutton rd. Damage to the car was set at $400.

Bruce Hill, 3858 N. Paulina, Chicago, was injured and taken to Resurrection hospital when his truck went into a ditch and overturned after trying to avoid an unidentified auto on Higgins rd. at Touhy last Thursday. Damage was set at $500.

Albert P. Cavicchioni, 34, of 133 N. Ardmore, Villa Park, and William Schoelwitz, Box 57H, Rand rd., Barrington, were injured last Thursday when their car and one driven by Alex G. Kappas, 22, of 5720 W. Belmont, Chicago, collided head-on on Rand rd, three-quarters of a mile west of Elmhurst rd.

KAPPAS WAS ticketed by state police for driving on the wrong side of the road. Damage to the Cavicchioni car was estimated at $600 and to the Kappas auto at $500.

Gerald Arkin, 31, of 707 Spring st., Roselle, and James Gaderlund, 12, of 1125 Hope st., Wauwatosa, Wis., were to have seen their own doctors following a two-car collision at Golf and Roselle rds. Sunday.

State police charged Arkin, northbound on Roselle rd., with failure to stop at a stop sign after his car struck an eastbound car driven by Harry A. Gaderlund, 42, of the Wauwatosa address. Damage to the Arkin car was $900 and to the Gaderlund vehicle $400.

Robert M. Yaeger, five, of 702 Hicks rd., Palatine, was to have seen his own physician after a car driven by Marion H. Yaeger, 33, of the same address, was struck from the rear by one driven by Harry Leitman, 58, of 2142 N. 73rd st., Elmwood Park, at Rand and Dundee rds. Saturday.

Leitman was charged with following too close in traffic. The Yaeger auto suffered $100 damage and the Leitman vehicle $500.

Prospect, was injured when his hand became wedged between a wall and box which was struck by a truck backing into a building on Golf rd. a half mile east of Rand rd. Monday, June 9. 50 Million Frenchmen Say That Friday 13 Is Lucky

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Don't worry about Friday the 13th.

Fifty-million Frenchmen claim that this is a very lucky day. That many Frenchmen really can't be wrong.

The French National Lottery serves as one measuring stick of the confidence that people have in Friday the 13th. The average number of daily purchases of lottery tickets in France runs to 40,000. But when this "lucky day" arrives, the number rises to about 220,000.

FRENCH CASINOS, too, report huge crowds at their roulette wheels on this occasion.

"People feel that they just can't lose," explained the croupier at Nice's beach-front casino. (He added, though, that they lose just as heavily as at any other time).

At Monte Carlo people usually crowd the roulette wheel to a point where admittance tickets are finally withheld from sale.

Before the year 1933, Friday the 13th was considered an unlucky time in France. This is the year that the French National Lottery was started. A number of extremely poor people found fortune through tickets bought on this special day, and in this way a widespread belief began its change.

But before 1933 people thought about Friday as "The dangerous time of the week." Napoleon, it is said, attributed his failure in Russia to the fact that he left Paris on a Friday.

Christ was killed on a Friday, and numerous other unpleasantries occurred on this day which people have no trouble in recalling.

VICTOR HUGO called 13 "The number of the devil." With so many famous Frenchmen contributing so much evidence against this unlucky combination of thirteen and Friday, anybody in his right mind would probably stay in bed on that day.

And people have done such things in France. One woman remained in bed and was killed when the ceiling fell in on her. This reached the newspapers and confirmed the evil power of such a day.

It was only the National Lottery that, with its bundles of francs to be paid out, managed to beat away the black veil surrounding this occasion. Now, millions of French people venture out on this day, confident of good fortune. (B8

Grand Opening For Liquor Store

A self-service liquor store, complete with shopping carts had its grand opening last weekend.

The largest liquor store in Arlington Heights, Parkway Liquors, 17 E. Campbell, the 32 feet by 80 feet modern structure has about twice the space as did the former store on the lot to the east.

Wine department features a large display of German, French, English and domestic wines and champagne. All major brand names and wine types are for sale, as are many of rare vintage.

BESIDES CORDIAL, bourbon, scotch and other whiskeys and gin, the new store offers 45 brands of beer, all available cold from an 11 feet by 30 feet cooler. Brands include several German and Japanese beers.

Soft drinks and snacks are available as a special department in the store.

For local connoisseurs, Wendy Brothers, Chicago wine distributor, will send George Zaphirio to Parkway Saturday to tell about wines and will offer tastes of various types, brands, etc.

Parkway's old building was razed to make way for Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

A [illegible]ING lot will facilitate customers, although it is presently hard to reach because of the construction next door. Once the Savings and Loan building is complete, customers will be able to use both the small Parkway lot and the sizeable Savings and Loan lot.

Parkway Liquors was purchased in November, 1956, by Arnold Freise, president, and Robert Bidault, secretary-treasurer. A force of seven employees mans the new store. (A PARKWAY LIQUORS of Arlington Heights held its grand opening in its new and larger quarters at 17 E. Campbell last weekend. Proprietor Arnold Freise posed near an expanded wine department.

Friday Unlucky

Friday is considered an unlucky day in almost every Christian country. The association with bad luck probably arose from the connection of Friday with the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

Modern Hospital Provides More Care for Your Money

by PAUL A. ZEHNER

The good old days weren't always so good. People paid fewer dollars for a day of hospital care, but we get much more for our money.

Grandfather paid more for his health than we. He didn't stay at the hospital eight days like we do. He paid for at least 40 days on the average stay.

Our shorter stay means bigger earnings. We get paid during 32 days that grandfather spent in a hospital bed.

AT THE TURN of the century, people averaged 47 years of life. Today they live 69 years.

We can expect to go to the hospital at least eight times in our life. We will average 63 days in a hospital bed. Thank goodness we don't have to be there 320 days. Nowadays we use time, formerly spent in a hospital, doing productive work.

Some of us remember $5 a day hospital cost. The $12 cost 10 years ago is a pleasant thought. In 1957, national average was over $24 for a day in the hospital.

Employees of hospitals today earn two dollars for every one dollar paid them 10 years ago. The great changes of the past decade are responsible for higher wages.

A NEW DAY has dawned for women. They have new opportunities in business, industry, and in the professions.

Four out of five persons employed by hospitals are women.

Women who got $2,000 a year 10 years ago, now earn $4,000 annually.

The need for hospital personnel has increased sharply. There are three employees today for every two a few years ago.

Hospitals need skilled personnel. One out of three are skilled. By comparison the United Auto Workers Union classifies one out of six of its members as skilled.

The need for skilled people is intensified by the great medical advances. New instruments and methods require people with special training.

IT OFTEN TAKES years to equip a person for the skills in a modern hospital. People spend a good deal of time and money in training. You know how much it costs to send your children to school.

Isn't it amazing that hospitals need three skilled people for every two needed ten years ago?

There are strict standards for hospital personnel. These are constantly reviewed and changed by hospitals and accrediting agencies. They provide these standards so the patient gets the fullest advantage of progress in medicine and hospital care.

What a change there has been in the American economy. Grandfather is telling the truth when he says, "We used to buy the family groceries for two dollars a week." It isn't long ago that we thought $20.00 a week was a good wage.

Today's world is much different from grandfathers. We're glad of it. (B8

Weller Creek Is To Be Cleaned

Weller creek in northwest Des Plaines will be cleaned out this summer!

In action not expected this soon, the Metropolitan Sanitary District awarded a $40,600 contract Thursday to dredge the 1.1 mile length of Weller creek, also known as Weller's Drainage Ditch, from Mt. Prospect to Wolf roads in Des Plaines.

Horace P. Ramey, chief engineer, said pleas—especially in recent weeks—from Des Plaines officials and residents in the area turned the trick for the flood relief project.

THE JOB WAS awarded to Brautigam company, which already has started work on a $208,860 contract to clean out Weller creek along its 2.7 mile course through Mt. Prospect between Arlington Heights and Des Plaines.

Ramey said Des Plaines officials reported the city lacked additional money for the section between Mt. Prospect and Wolf roads. He pointed out Des Plaines has let a $17,000 contract to clear the creek between Wolf road and the point where the ditch goes into conduit near Rand road.

Commented William S. Nordburg, sanitary district trustee, on the contract awarded Thursday: "There's not much sense of cleaning out the two ends without cleaning out the middle."

The creek will be dredged to a depth of three feet and a bottom 12 feet wide, Ramey said. (B8

Industrial Development Increases

A total of $22,676,000 industrial development investment in May was the largest month in 1958, the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry reports. The May total more than doubled the $10,414,000 investment in May, 1957.

Total investments for the first five months of 1958 were $71,057,000, compared with $85,288,000 in the same period last year.

Thomas G. Ayers, an association official, pointed out that the May total of this year exceeds investments made during the month of May in eight of the past 10 years but the fixe month cumulative figure exceeds only four comparable periods during the past 10 years.

"THE MAY increase in industrial investments," says Ayers, "is significant since it shows the business community's confidence in the future."

Among the projects announced in May:

Acme Gravure Services, Inc., 1501 Congress st., has broken ground for a new plant in the Northwestern Industrial park in Rolling Meadows. It will be the first building to be erected in the 205 acre industrial park, and will contain 23,000 square feet of floor area devoted to gravure engraving and plate manufacturing.

Portage Tool Company has purchased a site in the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove for future use for plant construction.

Bishop To Attend Parley

Bishop Gerald Francis Burrill of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago will leave Chicago June 17 for England, where he will attend the Lambeth Conference of the bishops of the Anglican Communion.

They will be accompanied by the Rev. J. Ralph Deppen, canon missioner of the Diocese who will serve as the Bishop's chaplain during the conference, and by the chancellor of the Diocese, Walter S. Underwood, and Mrs. Underwood, parents of Mrs. George Adam, 411 N. Maple, Prospect Heights.

The Rev. Sheldon B. Foote, Rector of St. Philips church, Palatine, is also attending Lambeth, in a private capacity. (B8

State Law Issue In Pistol Trial

Is it legal for sporting goods stores to sell blank cartridges for starter pistols used at athletic events?

Or does a 1957 state law regulating the sale of fireworks ban the sale of blanks?

THIS QUESTION will be the central issue in a trial to be held in Arlington Heights June 25.

The trial began last Wednesday but was continued because of a technicality. On trial will be Earl W. Maxon, owner of Maxon's sporting goods store in Des Plaines and a resident of Prospect Heights.

He will be charged with violating a state statute adopted at the 1957 session of the general assembly. He was arrested May 23 and charged with selling blank cartridges to two youths who were apprehended by county police. The police said the youths shot off the blanks in a forest preserve. The youths also were said to have purchased a starter pistol in his store for $10.50.

MAXON'S ATTORNEY, William C. Moyer of Arlington Heights, moved to quash the complaint against him on grounds that Justice of Peace Walter P. Dahl did not have authority to hear the case. Moyer claimed that a Des Plaines city ordinance permits the sale of the blank cartridges and that the complaint was improperly drawn.

JP Dahl, holding court in the Arlington Heights village hall, denied the motion to quash on jurisdictional grounds, noting that a state law takes precedence over a Des Plaines law. But the motion to quash on the second grounds, an improper complaint, was sustained.

Dahl and Eldred Benz, assistant State's Attorney, said an amended and corrected complaint will be filed. The original complaint had merely alleged a sale of the cartridges and failed to allege a violation of a state law.

Des Plaines is apparently not the only city to permit the sale of the blanks fired in starter pistols. An Arlington Heights sporting goods dealer said several local stores also sell them. He said his store sells neither guns, which are of .22 caliber but have plugged barrels, nor blank cartridges to persons under 21 years of age. It requires proof of age. He added, however, that other stores do sell to minors.

IF JP DAHL decides the state law prohibits their sale, other villages and cities may take steps to enforce the law.

In another case before Dahl, an 18-year-old Palatine youth was found guilty of trespassing on private property and fined $50 and costs last week.

The youth, Ronald Gresik, 47 E. Wilmette, was arrested by sheriff's deputies June 13 after he was caught running from a vacant house in Palatine township.

The owner of the home, M. J. Graf of Arlington Heights, said that the house had been purchased by himself and his fiance and they are presently remodeling it. Graf told Dahl that beer parties had frequently been held in the home during May and that the carousers had tossed bottles through windows, left faucets turned on and committed other acts of vandalism.

Graf caught the youth as he and other boys were fleeing the home on a Friday night. Graf said he had never been there before but that he and several other boys were "celebrating their graduation from Palatine high school with a couple bottles of beer." He refused to name the others involved.

OTHERS FINED were John Green, 4550 Magnolia, Chicago, and Howard W. Helms, 522 Arlington ave., Chicago. Green was fined $25 and $9 costs for attempting to bribe a sheriff's deputy who arrested him for drunk and disorderly conduct. A $25 fine on the latter conviction was suspended.

Helms pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving, reduced from drunken driving, and was fined $100, of which $25 was suspended. (B8

Children's Books Inspire Fresh Patriotism, Pride

by EDITH LINDSEY

Among the books in the children's department of the public library that inspire pride in the history of our country and a feeling of loyalty toward the fine ideals for which it stands is the book "Colonial Living" by Edwin Tunis. By means of a lively text and accurate drawings, the author gives the reader a vigorous description of everyday living in the 17th and 18th centuries. The building of houses, spinning of yarn, weaving and dyeing, making of candles and soap, methods of cooking, the raising of early crops, farming implements used, and the tools of the blacksmith, cooper, miller, joiner, and silversmith are enjoyably and informatively recorded.

In the "Golden Book of America," Irwin Shapiro brings the past alive in stories about Indians, explorers, hunters, trappers, fur traders, sailing ships, and old-time steamboats. These stories combined with accounts and pictures of gaudy valentines, dime novels, country stores, isolated villages, and unimproved dirt roads make up a coherent story about American life.

"American Sailing Ships" by Charles Strong is a spectacularly illustrated 200 year history of our sailing ships. The American pioneer spirit of adventure and freedom is epitomized in a realistic and vivid manner in this collector's item of maritime art.

"BIRTHDAYS OF Freedom by Genevieve Foster is a graphic story of the growth of freedom beginning with America's birth of freedom, the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The account then goes back in time to show some earlier birthdays of freedom. Decorative maps, a time chart, and handsome illustrations make this a new approach to history.

"Perilous Road" by William O. Steele tells a stirring story of the War between the States. It is an excellent portrayal of the difficult path one boy must follow before he learns the senseless waste of war and the true meaning of courage and tolerance. (A

"A FRIENDLY CHURCH WITH A FAITHFUL MESSAGE"

RELIGION IS BIG BUSINESS

The Disciples of Christ are just one of the seven leading denominations of America. In a little over a hundred years they have gathered two million members. They have great churches in most of the mission lands, with three million dollars being poured into this work annually. A revolving fund of eight million dollars is loaned for church building. Ten million dollars were contributed for church support last year. People do not spend their money this way unless they think religion is worth it.

Park District Presents Budget

The financial picture of Arlington Heights park district is covered in the annual budget published in this issue.

It is depending upon taxes in the amount of $167,000. Less than one-third will be needed for bonds and interest that made Pioneer Park possible.

THE CORPORATE account calls for expenditure of $77,000. Field house rentals are expected to amount to $3500 and sale of concessions to reach $5,000.

While the recreational program will call for a total of $64,000, swimming pool fees are estimated at $26,000, which wil reduce that expenditure to $38,000. (AF

Liquor Clerk Found Guilty On Sale to Minor Charge

Terming a phony chauffeur's license "not the best fake I've ever seen" and adding that "the boy looks rather young," JP Walter P. Dahl last week found an Arlington Heights liquor store clerk guilty of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor.

FOUND GUILTY was Howard Keller, a clerk at Parkway Liquors, 17 E. Campbell st. However, the finding was vacated when the store's attorney pleaded that Keller would "be branded" by conviction and the corporation owning the store was substituted as the guilty party. The corporation was then fined $25 and costs by JP Dahl.

Herbert C. Gardner, 17, of Park Ridge, testified that he purchased a case of Gluek Stite, a malt beverage with a greater alcoholic content than beer, from Keller on March 7. Gardner admitted he used a fictitions chauffeur's license he made himself. It gave his age as 23. Gardner last month was fined $100 for using the false identification.

POLICE OFFICER Jack W. Aldrich and Maurice J. English arrested Gardner as he returned to his auto parked at the corner of Evergreen and Davis sts. They did not see him purchase the beverage.

Keller's attorney, Wilhelm F. Levander, claimed it was possible the youth had purchased the beverage in one of several stores directly west of both his car and the Parkway store.

Keller did not testify in his own behalf after Gardner identified him in court as the man who sold him the beverage.

Dahl noted that "although in effect the boy tricked Keller (into selling him the beer)," the state does not excuse unintentional violators of the law. Dahl also said there "was no reasonable doubt" as to the facts presented by Gardner and police witnesses.

THE STORE WAS closed five days last week after Mayor Carlisle, village liquor commissioner, found the store guilty in the same case and temporarily suspended its license. (A

FROM SHERWOOD

Mrs. Robert R. Blackburn, 1004 Watling, is back from Arlington, Va., where a new grandson was waiting for her at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rachner. Joseph Bernard is the couple's third son. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rachner of Elgin, who will leave for Virginia soon.

The James Pooles, 1106 N. Princeton, have been enjoying a visit from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sornsen of Muskogee, Okla. Bonnie's graduation from high school and Bill's graduation from the junior high helped bring them here at this time. Bonnie and Bill were among the few who were fortunate in having two sets of grandparents here to see them graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ryden, 1119 N. Harvard, went to Ft. Collins, Colo., to see their son, David, receive his BS degree in business administration from Colorado State university. After the graduation they all went to Denver, Central City and even took in a few trips to the mountains, which have won them over completely.

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Cas Nastals enjoyed having her father, Fred Macko of Fox River Grove spend a long weekend with them.

Newcomers to Arlington Heights are Mr. and Mrs. Neil Warren, their daughters, Sallianne and Susan, and his mother, Mrs. Allen. Mr. Warren is a pharmacist at the Arlington Pharmacy and Mrs. Warren will work there too. They are living at 945 N. Kennicott.

The welcome mat is also out to Mr. and Mrs. Kent Robinson, who have moved into the Arthur Leu's former home at 1004 N. Kaspar. The Robinsons and their sons, Jeffery, 3½, and Daniel, 14 months, formerly lived in Indianapolis. The Leus are staying in Rolling Meadows until their new home in Winston Park is ready.

NORMA AND AL Snap, 1012 N. Kaspar, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Donald Larsson of Paris, Ill., over the weekend. The two couples were in school together at the University of Illinois.

Lorraine Stasch, 1008 N. Kaspar, had a home products party at her home last Friday night to which she invited Norma Snap, Mrs. Henry Olson, Bette Howes, Dorothy Cryer and Vern Sowka. After a few games were played, with products as prizes, Georgiana Palmer of Palatine demonstrated the items. The ladies placed their orders and enjoyed coffee and cake.

MARY AND JACK Meade are back from a 2-week vacation to Clinton, Mass., and the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson. While there, they had a birthday party for Tom, who was one. Ten of the 17 grandchildren came to see him blow out the candle, but nobody had more fun than Tom. Mary and Jack attended two class reunions: Worcester Polytechnic institute class reunion (1946) and the Clark university reunion, class of 1953.

A few days were spent in Boston visiting Jack's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sheehan. Coming home by way of the turnpikes, they stopped in Metuchen, N.J., to visit Mary's brother, George and his family. Mary says her girls were a delight to watch when they got home—they had such fun rediscovering the toys they had left behind.

THE MARTIN Saidikowskis, 828 N. Salem, are back from a trip to Three Lakes, Wis., where they attended the first mass of her cousin, Rev. Richard Burzynski, in St. Theresa church. Many friends and relatives were invited to a dinner after the mass. Open house was held in the school basement later for 450 people.

Bobby Bebbers, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bebbers, 911 N. Fernandez, made his first communion in St. James church Sunday at 10 a.m. mass. His grandmother, Mrs. A. H. Bebbers, and uncle, Robert Bebbers, came out from Chicago for the occassion. There was a family dinner afterward.

Jerry Bebbers will enter St. Joseph hospital, Chicago, Friday for a tonsillectomy. He wants to get it behind him so he can enjoy a summer of swimming and other fun.

Tom McGough graduated from the executive training program of the University of Chicago June 11. In August he will receive his master's degree in business administration.

B. F. BATTAGLIA and his daughter, Barbara, returned home in time to celebrate Father's day. They went east for a week, stopping to visit Barbara's grandmother in Meadville, Pa., and going to New Jersey to see her uncles, aunts and cousins. Back at 904 N. Kaspar, Evelyn's brother, Fred McAdara of Camden, N.J., came to see her and his new nephew last Thursday, which helped shorten the week for her.

Ridge Park bridge tournament ended with a dinner at Old Orchard golf club last Saturday night. The round robin for bridge, which was in progress all winter, finished with Ann and Jerry Mockenhaupt winning first prize. They are automatically bridge chairmen for the next year, which they anticipate to be as good or better than this year, as everyone has signed up again. Eleanor and Jack Searfoss won high score for the evening.

MR. AND MRS. Sherman Durell, 825 N. Harvard, have a girl. Kay was born May 23 in Augustana hospital, Chicago, weighing 6 pounds 11 ounces. She has a brother, Gregory, 2.

When the John Burkes went to Florida recently they visited Ann Morici and her parents in Ft. Lauderdale for a few days. They also spent some time in Miami, where they managed to get a nice tan, but Florida didn't hold the attraction for them that their grandson does, so they had to come back home and see him.

The Vincent Cunninghams, 802 N. Harvard, went to the potluck dinner at the American Legion hall by the St. James Bridge and Canasta club. The dinner ended the season with square dancing afterward. The Cunninghams also attended the Ridge Park bridge tournament at Old Orchard golf club Saturday night and joined in bridge before leaving for another party.

THE GEORGE BIEBERS, 801 N. Princeton, welcome another member to the family. Dennis Michael was born June 11 in Evanston hospital, weighing 10 pounds 4 ounces. The other children are Judy, 9, Cathy, 8, Joanne, 6, George Jr., 5, Tom 4, John, 3, and Marian, 20 months. Grandparents are Mrs. George Bieber of Monroe, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morin of Richmond Hill L.I., N.Y.

There has been a lot of excitement at the W. H. Heys home, 1015 N. Kaspar. Her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Schwartz and Jerri Ann of Santa Fe, N.M., visited her parents in Kankakee and Mrs. Hey and Jonathan joined them for a week. The Schwartzes came here for a visit before they left for Santa Fe. Saturday finished a busy week for them when they went to the reunion of his class of '48 at the University of Chicago. Mr. Hey was the general chairman of the reunion, held on the campus during the alumni weekend. Mrs. Hey said the turnout was far better than they had anticipated.

MR. AND MRS. John H. Hillebrand, 817 N. Patton, had her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Howell of Houston as their guests for several days. While here they all went to Champaign for the graduation of her brother-in-law, Ken MacFarland from the University of Illinois. Patricia Hillebrand is rehearsing for the ballet recital of the Palatine school of dancing to be held Sunday at Palatine high school.

When Chris Howes, daughter of the Raymond E. Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, was graduated from Junior High school her aunt, Mrs. Christopher Smith and sons, Tom, Christopher and Jonathan, of Toronto, Ontario, Canada came for the occasion. Chris went back with her aunt again this year and has formed quite an attachment for her "second home" there and the friends made during her summer visits.

Mrs. Wilbert Kedrow, 906 N. Kaspar, spent 2 weeks in Syracuse, N.Y., visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harders and their children.

THERE WAS A birthday party at the Richard Laver home Sunday. Pamela was one and to celebrate the occasion her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, and great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hanson, came from Chicago. It was her daddy's birthday and Father's day, too, but Pamela was the only one who wiped the whipped cream off the cake and got away with it.

The John J. Lightners, 921 N. Harvard, are looking forward to a week's visit from his brother and family, the Bill Lightners of Nixon, N.J. They are bringing two of their three children with them—Billy and Susan.

Jerry Sorensen, son of the Richard Sorensens, 943 N. Kaspar, will probably remember his fourth birthday for a long time. The celebration started June 10 when Mrs. Sorensen took Jerry, his brother and sister to see "Lunch time Theater" on TV. They met Uncle Bucky, Uncle Ned and Aunt Dody and got their autographs to prove it, which has increased their prestige with the young set in the neighborhood. Sunday there was a combination Father's day and birthday party for Jerry with 44 relatives gathered in the back yard for a barbecue. Monday 10 boys and girls from the neighborhood came for ice cream, cake and games.

WHEN THEY went to Logan, Utah to see their son graduate from Utah State university, the William Anguses combined their vacation with the trip. William Jr. received his degree in tool engineering. After graduation they did some sightseeing through several western states. Now home, Mr. Angus' mother, Mrs. May Angus of Perth Amboy, N.J. is spending the summer with them.

June 11 Florence Gordon had a jewelry party at her home. Mrs. Ed Friesendorf demonstrated the line of jewelry to Mrs. Cas Nastal, Mrs. Ed Bakowski, Mrs. Eugene Friker and her mother, Mrs. Swensen, Mrs. John Latta, Mrs. Paul Patrick, Mrs. Irvin Rahn, Mrs. Forrest Terry, Mrs. N. S. Cryer Jr. and Mrs. James Christensen. After the orders were placed, Florence served coffee and cake.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Casey Gordons and the Newman Cryers went to the Hinsdale Summer Theatre to see Sydney Blackmer in "Inherit the Wind." After the curtain went down on an excellent performance, Mr. Blackmer introduced a member of the audience, who will appear there in "Tea and Sympathy" for 2 weeks—Linda Darnell.

Because of her high scholastic average for four years, Sherry Rossiter, daughter of the William Rossiters, 809 N. Patton, sat with the 73 bronze tablet seniors who graduated from the University of Illinois Saturday. Mrs. Rossiter, Sherry's grandfather, H. A. Ritcher, who is visiting them at this time, and Louis Schairer were there when she graduated with highest honors in music education. She is teaching music in Lyons township. The university is becoming traditional in the family, with Sherry the third generation to graduate there.

Jane Huff, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Huff, 1022 N. Patton, left last Thursday to spend 6 weeks in Port Aransas, Texas with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammill.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a house guest wishes to give his hostess a little gift of appreciation, when should he present it?

A. He may bring it along and present it soon after his arrival, at some time during his visit, or send it to her soon after his return home. This, of course, does not excuse him from his obligation of writing that all-important bread-and-butter letter to his hostess promptly upon his return home.

Q. Since I do not drink alcoholic beverages, what am I supposed to do at a wedding dinner when a toast is drunk to the bride?

A. You hold the drink which has been poured for you in your hand, lift it when the toast is made, and then put it down at the first opportunity.

Q. Is it proper to remove serving dishes or dinner plates first from the table?

A. The dinner plates should be removed first.

Suburbia Grows Ulcers, Creates Finance Pressures

(Third in a seires of articles on Northwest Family Service Association.)

Suburbia, advertised as country air, luxurious subdivisions, commuter's paradise, and social asylum for city-dwellers, also is a good place to grow ulcers.

Misled by some glamorous poster tacked to the wall of some gloomy city transit vehicle traveling through sunless streets, urbanites by the thousands have traded 107904 N. E. 14583th st. for a cozy eighth-of-an-acre on Shady Nook ln.

What the Sirens of the Suburbs failed to tell the new Welcome Wagon customers was that few people can afford this strap-clinger's Eden.

NORTHWEST FAMILY Service, for six months a professional case work service to individuals and families in the northwest suburbs, has found that debt is a major problem to advice-seekers.

So many people become overwhelmed with monthly payments that they forget to set aside money for food and basic necessities. Family Service believes that much of the trouble is caused by immaturity on the part of the purchasers. "They do not consider costs when buying something."

Immature customers are often more susceptible to large items than they are to lower-costing ones. Because a home runs into the thousands, a figure incomprehensible to the immature purchaser, mortgages are assumed without regard to the financial dilemma which results.

Family Service points out that the assumption that "it's cheaper to buy than to rent" is a mistaken notion. When one adds taxes, municipal services, repairs, hidden closing costs, lawns, sidewalks, and utilities, the old two bedroom flat becomes more attractive.

MIDDLE CLASS families, of which suburbia principally consists, have been neglected so far as counseling has been concerned. The wealthy can afford professional guidance and charity often takes care of the poor. Through Family Service, middle income families can, perhaps, escape some of the pitfalls that the average suburban home-buyer usually slips into.

More than 150 requests for service have come to the new group since its conception in mid-December, overloading the organization to the extent that many cases must be referred to other agencies. Through the first of May, Arlington Heights led in number of requests, followed by Des Plaines, Palatine, and Mt. Prospect.

Besides financial pressure, suburbanites unused to the isolation that their eighth-of-an-acre affords report that problems which were lost in the hugeness of the city become exaggerated in the three bedroom ranch.

HOUSEWIVES FIND themselves spending more and more time thinking about their problems. The picture window, which affords such a nice view of the newly-landscaped lawn, also allows the neighbors to look in. Individuality, lost in the masses of the loop, is spotlighted on Shady Nook ln. One can no longer lose himself in the anonymity of the city.

Suburban families, like people everywhere, have always had problems. In the past, skills and techniques for handling such matters were missing. Social work is a relatively new profession.

Increased knowledge of psychiatry, psychology, and social case work methods allows Family Service to help people unable to cope with their own situations.

Tollway Ad Sign Ban Is Sought

Cook county may decide to join the rest of the Chicago metropolitan area by forbidding advertising along the toll roads and expressways in unincorporated areas.

County zoning board of appeals has called a public hearing for the proposed amendment at 10:30 a.m. in the assembly room of the board of commissioners, room 535, county building, Chicago.

If accepted the amendment would state that "no advertising device shall hereafter be erected or relocated within 300 feet of the right-of-way line of any limited access highway if the face thereof is visible therefrom, and advertising devices located at a greater distance than 300 feet from the right-of-way line shall not exceed in gross area in square feet 1/200ths times the square of the distance from the highway."

BOARD DEFINES an advertising device as any advertising sign, billboard or poster panel which directs attention to a business, commodity, service, or entertainment not exclusively related to the premises where such sign is located or to which it is affixed.

According to the proposed amendment such devices would be banned from any trafficway "to which owners or occupants of abutting property or lands and other persons have no legal right of access to or from the same, except at such points only and in such manner as may be determined by the public authority having jurisdiction over such trafficway, including expressways and toll roads for through traffic."

Board urges all interested persons to attend and promises that all will be given an opportunity to be heard. (B8

Arlington Greens

Katie Coughlin, 1152 N. Hickory, celebrated her third birthday with two parties; a dinner party June 7, which included her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sweeney, an aunt, Mrs. Joan Rogers and cousins, Jeff and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. George Prassas, Miss Helen Demmer, Miss Peggy Wolfe and Jerry Prassas. The next afternoon Katie entertained a number of her young friends for dinner and the usual party fare, cake and ice cream. Enjoying the home movies were Craig and Nancy Kovar, Kathy and Titus Josetti, Jeff and Laura Reed and Tom Cooney.

While on a 3-week vacation trip to the middle west, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rapier of Los Angeles enjoyed a 9-day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Semple, 726 Clarendon ave., recently. Mrs. Rapier and Mrs. Semple are cousins.

AT A RECENT luncheon in the Wedgewood room at Field's, Tony Bengal, 1117 Haddow ct., was elected vice president of the Chicago Jaycee's. Charles Freund, 1164 N. Beverly lane, was elected a director.

New residents to the Greens are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garofalo, Stephen, 7, and Christina, 4. They moved into their new home at 1145 N. Hickory last Tuesday and are former residents of Brooklyn, N.Y. Mr. Garofalo is employed by the Electronics Signal company, N.Y., and is the area administraton for that firm.

Another family who became residents of the Greens last Tuesday are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ryan, Mary, 13, Judy, 11, Patsy, 6, and Betty, 5, who moved into their new home at 620 E. Clarendon ave. from Chicago's south shore section. Mr. Ryan is branch office manager of the U.S. Playing Card Co., Chicago.

IT WAS A LUCKY Friday the 13th for Lt. Com. and Mrs. Howard Harrison of 1112 N. Belmont, being the birth date of the newest member of the family. The 7 pound 4 ounce boy, Kevin Houston, was born in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin. His brothers and sisters are Howard Jr., Michael, Starr, Colleen and Marge.

Mrs. Carl Swoboda, 1119 N. Belmont, and children, Kenneth and Clarice, spent 4 days in Virden, Ill., last week, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Jean Clark, grandmother of Mrs. Swoboda, and visited relatives who had gathered from other nearby towns.

MR. AND MRS. George Rateike, 1117 N. Pine ct., and children, Ginger, Donnal and Marilyn, have just returned from a week's trip through the Smokies and Smoky mountain national park, where they enjoyed sightseeing, swimming and water bike rides on the river. While the fish were abundant, so were the insects and Mr. Rateike gave up the sport. It was an exciting trip home, especially when they reached the tornado area in Indiana and were delayed and detoured by high winds, dark skies and flooded highways.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freund, 1164 N. Beverly lane, are Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Chabner and children, Judy, David and Gary, of Jacksonville, Fla., where Mr. Chabner is stationed with the navy. Mrs. Chabner is Mrs. Freund's sister and the family plans to visit for about 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Summers 308 E. Oakton, and children, Michael and Mary Joan, enjoyed a week's stay at Spring Mill inn near Mitchell, Ind. Swimming, hiking and fishing made it a week of fun for the family, who also encountered the flooded highways and storms of last week.

MR. AND MRS. Aaron Golladay and children, Allen, Peggy, Pamela and Connie, of Middletown, Ky., are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mensch, 720 E. Oakton. The Golladays stopped to visit for a few days before starting their camping trip in Minnesota. Mrs. Mensch and Mrs. Golladay are sisters.

Gardeners, Art Fanciers Throng First Annual Show

Skittish clouds forced Arlington Heights' first combined art and garden show indoors Sunday but didn't discourage any of the 1000 persons who thronged the Pioneer fieldhouse.

THE PROMOTERS of the show, the village garden club and art guild, were enthusiastic about the large turnout. And visitors were warmly appreciative of the hundreds of exhibits, which ranged from antiques through flower arrangements.

"We had only six weeks to prepare for the show," commented Mrs. Carl Zehner, chairman of the art display. "Usually it takes a year to plan for a show like this and we will plan for an even larger one next year."

Most numerous were the displays of the garden club. They included some vegetables, among them radishes entered by a six-year-old gardener. Largest classifications, however, were in the floral displays, with hundreds of vases of peonies, roses of every tint known to nursery men, annuals and perennials and vines, shrubs and house plants.

ANOTHER SECTION of the garden club display had artful arrangements of flowers under the general title, "Beauty is Ageless." Classes in the section were "The Bud," "The Floweret," "The Bloom" and "The Full Blown Radiance."

What can be done when a little thought is applied to table decoration was demonstrated by other exhibits. One of these fitted into a Father's day theme, with six television snack trays laden with dishes and pipe designed to make "The End of a Perfect Day" for Dad.

Amateur artists belonging to the art guild reported brisk sales of their works.

Bill Nichols, a junior at Arlington high school who lives in Prospect Heights, had sold his second painting by seven p.m. and proudly held up sales slips showing he had earned $10.50.

MOST OF THE painters are concerned with domestic things, family portraits, dogs, flowers and the like. The ladies, to their credit, stuck to the things they know best instead of experimenting in arty abstraction.

Among the works with a lively and amusing feel for family life was "Family Wrestle," by Mrs. J. D. Cole, of 315 N. State rd. It almost spun with movement as children tumbled onto father at the nightly bedtime-hour. After this father no doubt needed the television snack tray.

"No, it wasn't posed. I couldn't get anyone to hold still long enough," quipped Mrs. Cole of her painting.

OF THE 356 entries in the garden show, 170 were awarded ribbons, including 42 blue ones for first places. Judges were Mrs. L. A. Copeland, Des Plaines; Mrs. A. J. McMaster, Deerfield; and Mrs. R. A. Whitcomb, Park Ridge.

Court Reform Group to Meet

Northwest community citizens will have the passage of the judicial amendment in mind when they meet Tuesday, June 24, at 8 p.m. in the Pioneer park field house.

Open to the public, the meeting is being sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights.

The amendment, which the committee for Modern Courts, a division of the Illinois Committee for Constitutional Revision, claims would provide a better court system for Illinois by putting qualified personnel in judicial positions, comes before the voters on a special ballot at the November 4 election.

ACCORDING TO the committee, scores of civic, professional, and business organizations have given support to the amendment, including the Chicago Bar association, Illinois State chamber and Junior chamber of commerce, Illinois Manufacturers association, AFL-CIO, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, Illinois Council of Churches - Executive committee, and the League of Women Voters of Illinois.

Called upon to ask interested citizens to form a local group for the amendment, the Arlington League of Women Voters planned Tuesday evening's meeting and compiled a list of civic-minded citizens to be invited. Over 100 affirmative replies have already been received. (B8

TO CHICAGO & NORTH WESTERN COMMUTERS

What will happen to the value of your home if commuter rail transportation becomes extinct?

Will it be practical for you to continue to live in the suburbs?

The death of commuter railroad service is inevitable under present operating conditions, say spokesmen for most commuter lines serving Chicago.

It is true that phenomenal suburban growth has brought increased demand for commuter service twice daily.

But this has not yielded enough revenue to absorb the cost of more equipment and train crews standing idle on off hours, railroaders say.

They add that the new pattern of suburban living, with TV, suburban shopping centers, and increasing use of automobiles, has substantially reduced patronage of off-peak runs. They foresee that increasing costs and unbalanced demand will put them out of business.

What's the answer? Further fare increases? Or what about subsidizing commuter lines? Should a subsidy come from the commuters, from a general head tax, or from a payroll tax? Should the 10 lines serving suburbanites be operated through a publicly-owned Chicago metropolitan transit district?

Events make this warning clear: Important decisions must soon be made.

For a better understanding of this pressing problem affecting you, see the timely, factual series by Staff Writer Fletcher Wilson starting Sunday in The Chicago Sun-Times!

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

The official rules for the 1958 contest for dog photographs are out and a postcard request to the sponsoring group, Gaines Dog Research center, 250 Park ave., New York 17, N.Y. will bring you a copy.

This is the 11th such annual contest to be held. A new feature this year is the eligibility of color as well as black-and-white photographs.

Five hundred dollars is the first prize in the contest; second is $250; and third, $100.

Entries in the contest, for which any good, interesting dog picture is eligible, must be postmarked not later than midnight Friday, Sept. 5, 1958. As usual, a group of leading photographic authorities will select the winners.

Incidence of Rabies Falling

During the past year the total number of cases of rabies in animals was in the vicinity of 5000. This represents a drop of about half within a 10-year period, with a decrease among dogs of 68 per cent, according to Dr. Ernest S. Tierkel, who made a report at the Inter-professional Symposium on Rabies held recently at Kansas City, Mo.

Continuous effort rather than sporadic or temporary action is the key to effective rabies control, and the cooperation of veterinarians, physicians, pet owners, farmers and wildlife administrators is indispensable. A well-integrated program of vaccination, enforcement of leash laws, elimination of stray dogs and control of rabid wildlife can bring about complete eradication of rabies in this country according to research centers.

Do dogs follow visual landmarks when finding their way home from strange places or do they depend on their scenting ability? It appears to be both where possible, however, neither can account for the many authenticated cases where dogs have been taken by automobile or train to great distances from home, been lost in strange places and yet appear days, weeks, even months later on their own doorstep.

Dogs can follow their own tracks which is well known. For this reason, if a dog is lost while hunting or when he has been taken for a walk in the woods, he will usually return to the point where you started and if you leave a coat or similar personal belonging at that place there's a good chance that he'll stay beside it until you return.

Dogs can follow landmarks in retracing their steps. But the sixth sense or extra-sensory perception that enables them to travel many miles across unknown land and water is still a mystery.

Many tests have been made in an attempt to find the answer. In one celebrated case, a dog was carried in an enclosed van on a strange road and in a direction he had never been. He could not see where he was going and was totally unfamiliar with the place where he was released nine miles from home. Yet he found his way back by traveling in almost a straight line. The scientist who made the experiment enlisted the aid of shopkeepers, policemen and farmers in the area who were able to recognize the dog by its description and report on the route taken. The dog knew none of these people so had no clue at any point of his journey. The experiment was tried several times with the same result.

In similar tests, using different dogs, the outcome was equally remarkable. In one test, the dog walked aimlessly for half an hour, then started off in the direction of his home. Weeks later, taken to the same place, he started off after only 10 minutes and took a more direct route.

Researchers attribute the homing ability in birds to an exact sense of time and an incredibly sensitive interpretation of the sun's position. Whether either faculty plays any part in the homing ability of dogs and other animals has never been shown. There is either a sixth sense or a wider range of the recognized senses in dogs.

Temperature and the weather seem to be most important these days. It brings to mind that the normal temperature of the Xoloixcuintle, hair-less dog of the Aztecs, and still being bred, is 104 degrees F., three above that of other breeds.

County to Survey Speeds On 650 Miles of Roads

The Cook county highway department announced this week that it will make traffic engineering studies on the 650 miles of road under its jurisdiction as the first step in setting speed limits in accordance with the 1957 state speed law.

The revision will extend into 93 suburbs, in which county roads are streets or parts of streets, as well as the unincorporated area.

One requirement of the new act is that any speed restriction other than 30 miles an hour in an urban district and 65 in a non-urban must be warranted by engineering data. Previously, in many instances, speed zones were determined by suburban officials on observation and limits fixed largely by guess work, said William J. Mortimer, county highway superintendent.

"FREQUENTLY, restrictions were so low as to be ridiculous," he said. "Motorists couldn't see any sense in them. They were difficult to enforce and undoubtedly bred disrespect for all speed signs.

"Speed zones established on the basis of engineering studies are realistic and consistent. They are set up with full consideration of safety and also of the need to keep traffic moving smoothly. Experience has shown that motorists obey signs they understand as being reasonable."

An extra force of college engineering students on summer vacation will be employed to make the survey and 10 radar units will be acquired for their use, said Mortimer. After a course of special training, they will be organized in teams of three, each with a radar unit and measuring devices. They will be sent into the field this month.

TO A DEGREE, motorists themselves will determine speed limits, said Leo G. Wilkie, county traffic engineer. The regular daily flow of traffic indicates the rate of speed most people believe proper for a given section of road, he said, and this indication has been found by engineering investigations to be reliable as a guide to what the limits should be and what limits can be enforced.

"The average driver can be counted on to use care," said Wilkie. "He pays attention to the job of driving and adjusts his speed to changing conditions. When he enters a builtup area, for example, he slows down, whether there is a speed sign or not.

"Careless drivers are a relatively small minority. When the speed studies are under way, they will be detected by radar and will not affect the findings."

It is planned to study one township at a time. Two weeks before the engineering crews start their work, all existing speed signs will be removed, thus affording motorists sufficient time to exercise their own judgment of proper speed. While the first townships are under study, existing signs will remain in the others. Suburb and township officers will be notified before studies start in their areas.

DATA ON VEHICLE speeds will be collected with the radar equipment. At the same time, a traffic engineer will drive a test car over the section of road under study to determine whether the public's idea of speed is sound.

The study team will also use a measuring device that is essentially a rolling wheel meter with a long handle. Measurements are necessary to determine whether a road is in an urban or non-urban district. Under the new law, said Wilkie, the definition of an area as an urban district is independent of corporate limits. Instead, it is defined as "the territory contiguous to and including any street which is built up with structures devoted to business, industry or dwelling houses situated at intervals of less than 100 feet for a distance of a quarter of a mile or more."

Under the 1957 act, the county is authorized to establish speed limits in urban districts of not less than 20 miles an hour and not more than 65, and in non-urban districts of not less than 35 and not more than 65. In each instance, the county board's ordinance is to be submitted to the state for approval.

IN ADDITION to speed data, the study crews will also list other considerations of proper speed in a given section of road. These include the road surface, width of lanes, road shoulders, curves, hills, sight distances, intersecting roads and roadside culture.

Approximately 100 miles of the county road system are within incorporated suburbs and additional mileage runs through areas that are urban districts under the law even though not incorporated. While speed limits are important in builtup districts, the study will cover the entire 650-mile system. (B8

Plan Special Events For YMCA Day Camp

Plans are now being finalized for the Northwest Suburban YMCA Day Camp program, which includes many special events. Each Wednesday morning has been set aside as fishing day. Boys and girls bring their own equipment and fish in the Deer Grove lagoon. Last year the champion fisherman was crowned after pulling in a 14-incher. All fishing is done from the bridge and bank. No boats are allowed.

Once a week boys and girls participate in a cook-out. Bringing a "snack from home," the children are instructed on how to prepare a hot lunch and enjoy it. Stress is made on the safety rules concerning fire.

NATURALISTS FROM the Forest Preserve can find more wonderful phenomena of nature in a 100-yard stroll than most people can observe in a day's hike. One of the highlights of camp is when the "ranger" shows the campers the intimacies of insect life and the wonders of nature at their feet.

Craft projects have been arranged so that every camper can enjoy a minimum of four instruction hours to begin projects and then ample time is given to complete them. Swimming instruction is given every afternoon along with archery and other organized games.

At the conclusion of each two-week session a special program is presented with parents especially invited to observe. The three programs presented last year were a world service penny carnival, an Indian day and a Gold Rush day.

DAY CAMP IS FOR boys and girls 7-12 years of age. Three two-week periods will be conducted on a four-day per week basis, Tuesday through Friday. Campers meet at designated pickup points at approximately 9 a.m. and are met by chartered bus which transports them to the camp site. At the close of each day the children enjoy an instructional swim and return to the pickup points at approximately 5 p.m.

The first period is from June 30 to July 11, the second from July 15 to July 25 and the third from July 29 to August 8. The nominal fee includes milk, swim admissions, craft supplies, insurance, transportation and all other expenses. Advance registration is necessary to be assured of a place.

State Census Study Shows Suburbs Have Few Negroes

Only two north suburban Cook county towns and five in Lake county are among the 25 out of 192 Chicago suburbs which have more than 2.5 per cent or 250 non-white residents under the latest available censuses, it was pointed out in a suburban "segregation" study released by the Illinois Commission on Human Relations, a state agency, at its annual delegates' conference.

Evanston with 7,832 non-whites out of 74,959 residents under a 1955 special census, or 10.4 per cent compared with 7,134, or 9.7 per cent in 1950; and Glencoe, with 579 out of 8,647 under a 1954 census, or 6.7 per cent, compared with 454 out of 6,980, or 6.5 per cent in 1950, are the two exceptions.

KENILWORTH, WHICH had 84 non-whites out of 2,789 residents in 1950, has not taken a census since, and Winnetka, with 309 non-whites and 2.6 per cent in 1950, had dropped to 2.5 per cent with 295 out of 13,058 population by a 1955 census.

The report pointed out that north suburban non-whites in some areas were largely women employed as domestics, and when large homes and servants became fewer, the non-white residents did likewise.

Stating that lack of employment opportunities, high costs of homes in most areas, and "housing discrimination" were causes, the report, written by Mirro Romanow, research supervisor, concluded: "Regardless of the factors involved, Chicago suburbs have developed a high degree of racial segregation, which in turn tends to promote segregation in economic, social, political, cultural and religious life."

FIGURES AS FOLLOWS are given for other north and northwest suburban non-whites, who include Indians, Orientals, and dark Mexicans as well as Negroes, the report points out:

Glenview, one out of 13,470 (1956); Golf, two out of 323 (1954); Lincolnwood, 52 out of 10,490, (1957); Morton Grove, 64 out of 16,643 (1958); Niles, six out of 13,949 (1957; Northbrook, eight out of 8,148 (1955); Northfield, 20 out of 3,170 (1956); Skokie, 98 out of 43,987 (1956).

Wilmette, 157 out of 20,500 (1956); Arlington Heights, two out of 19,149 (1956); Des Plaines, four out of 28,512 (1956); Norridge, 11 out of 4,596 (1956); Palatine, one out of 7,766 (1956); Park Ridge, 19 out of 27,590 (1957); Schiller Park, five out of 3,555 (1957); Wheeling, three out of 3,426 (1956).

Reporting no non-whites in the latest census are:

Mount Prospect, 11,894 population (1956), and Rolling Meadows, 8,416 population (1957).

Mavericks

In 1945, Samuel Maverick, a Texas pioneer, reluctantly acquired a herd of cattle in payment of a debt owed him. He did not mark them with a brand and they strayed. Ranchers in the region came to call them "mavericks" and today all unmarked cattle are so called.

The 9631st Air Reserve squadron of Des Plaines has been chosen as one of six units which will compete for national honors among Air Force Reserve squadrons.

Announcement of the honor was made this week by Major General Robert E. L. Eaton, commander of Tenth Air Force covering an 18-state midwest area, in a telegram to Major Harvey E. Meyer, 9631st Commander.

The 9641st Air Reserve squadron from Decatur, Ill., and the Des Plaines squadron were named the top squadrons among 218 in Tenth Air Force.

Both units will compete against similarly nominated squadrons from Continental Air Command's two other numbered Air Forces for selection as the Air Force's Outstanding Air Reserve squadron.

This year's nominees were selected for their achievements during the period July 1, 1957, through March 31, 1958.

The Des Plaines squadron, besides carrying out an effective program with its 161 members from Chicago and nearly all north and northwest suburbs, ranked high in eight important management areas.

These key areas are: officers inactive duty participation for pay, airmen inactive duty participation for pay, inactive duty participation for non-pay, officer active duty participation for pay, airmen active duty participation for pay, effectiveness report administration, accuracy and timeliness of reporting, and average points earned by reservists.

People Advised About Chiggers

Beware of chiggers! This sign should be posted in every area infested with chiggers during the summer. Trouble is, though, that just too many places are infested.

Areas most likely to harbor chiggers include shaded woods, high grass or weeds, orchards, berry patches, golf courses and even lawns.

ADULT CHIGGERS pass the winter in protected places and hatch their young in the spring. The young chigger is known as a larva. The larva is the troublemaker.

These young chiggers attach themselves to the skin of people or to the skin of domestic animals. But before they settle down to feed on their unsuspecting host, they scurry around for a suitable location. This is usually where clothing fits tightly over the skin, or where the flesh is thin, or where the flesh is thin, tender or wrinkled.

LIKE TICKS, chiggers attach themselves by inserting their mouth parts in the skin — frequently in hairy follices or pores. Then they inject a fluid into the skin which dissolves the tissues. The chiggers then suck up the liquefied tissue.

The fluid injected into the skin causes swelling, itching and (in some persons) fever. Itching may be intense and, if nothing is done to relieve it, may continue a week or longer.

SEVERAL REPELLENTS are effective against chiggers and should be used by persons in infested areas. H. B. Petty, entomologist with the University of Illinois and Illinois Natural History Survey, suggests any of the following: dimethyl phthalate, dimethyl carbate, ethyl hexanediol or benzyl benzoate. When buying a chigger repellent, look for these chemicals on the label. Apply the repellent to clothing along the edges of all openings, inside and out. Arms and legs should also be treated if they are not covered by clothing.

Petty warns that most people not using a repellent in a chigger-infested area are usually attacked. He recommends taking a bath as soon as possible after you return home from a picnic or other similar outing in infested areas. A bath will kill most or all of the attached chiggers and others that may not be yet attached.

ALTHOUGH DESTROYING the chiggers reduces the itching, itching will not stop. The fluid injected by the chiggers cannot be removed, and no treatment is known that will give permanent relief. However, applying ammonia, alcohol or camphor will give some relief.

For controlling chiggers in lawns, dieldrin gives satisfactory results. Use two quarts of dieldrin, 15 per cent concentrate, in 20 to 25 gallons of water per acre. Two pounds of chlordane or toxaphene, or ¾ pound of lindane per acre will also control chiggers in lawns. For best results, adequately cover the ground, grass and lower parts of plants. (Fm

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Welasi Day Camp

Dress rehearsal for "Dancing Children," the Indian pageant to be presented at the Camp Walasi council fire, will take place Friday, June 20, in the home of Mrs. Joseph Crittenden, 311 S. Dunton at 3 p.m. All participating groups are asked to appear in costume for the final rehearsal.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS district summer camping experience will be held at Busse forest 5 and 6, Bierman's shelter from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 23, 25 and 27. Based on the outdoor theme, "Friendship in the Woods," the day camp program will include handicraft, campcraft, nature study, first aid, camp cookery and songs and dances.

Ernest "Eagle Plume" Naquayouma, son of a Hopi chief and talented member of the Chicago Indian Council Fire, will appear in full tribal costume and teach the Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls various Indian ceremonial dances. He will also have on display his treasured collection of katchina dolls. Fashioned of cottonwood, from a tree which has been struck by lightning, the katchinas are symbolic of Indian mythology and represent the Indian deities of home, war, protector, corn, mud head and others.

EXPLAINING the legend behind the Hopi ceremonial dolls, Chief Eagle Plume bears out the ancient stories of the mud head. "The mud head came first and is the most important of the spirits. He pushed up through the earth with a buckskin bag atop his head. In it were seeds to provide the fruits and grains necessary to the Indians." Naquayouma loves lore of the Hopi tribe and substantiates his interest in katchinas as being part of the ancient belief that the katchinas aid the Indians in their home life and prosperity, and bring him only the good things of earth.

Chief Eagle Plume's appearance at the Arlington Heights district day camp will be at the Monday and Wednesday sessions of the 3-day camp.

PARENTS AND friends of the Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds are invited to bring a trail lunch on the final day of camp and join the girls for the afternoon council fire and pageant.

South Arlington Heights

In preparation for completion of their wood gatherer's rank, the Tawanka and Wayakita Camp Fire groups had a party for their mothers and fathers at Pioneer Park field house recently. Entertainment included games, and a camp crafter's show in which the girls demonstrated the right and wrong way of camping. After singing two of their favorite hiking songs, refreshments of cupcakes, punch, coffee and candy were served.

JUNE TENTH both groups went on an all-day cookout to Illinois Beach State Park at Zion. After cooking breakfast, the girls hiked to the beach and hunted for fossil rocks. After lunch and another trip to the beach, the groups packed their gear and drove to Deer Grove for a supper of broiled steaks or kabobs. All the girls and guardians agreed that it was a wonderful day and are looking forward to their next camping experience.

Elutapitkins Camp Fire Girls met Monday morning at the home of their guardian, Mrs. Charles W. Johnson, to plan next week's day camp menus. Joy Berhop, member of the Wikotanda Camp Fire group, will travel with the Elutapitkins during the 3-day camp.

For their last meeting before day camp, the Indian Princess Blue Birds had a picnic at the home of their leader, Mrs. Irvin L. McDougall. Dancing and games were enjoed by the girls after the refreshments.

Palatine

Palatine district of Camp Fire Girls held their grand council fire Monday evening, June 16, at 7 p. m. in the basement of St. Paul Evangelical and Refdmerro Evangelical and Reformed church. Awarding of trail seeker, wood gatherers, fire maker, and torch bearer ranks followed the impressive Blue Bird fly-up ceremony. (B8

Indian Chief to Teach Ancient Rites

At the Hopi Indian reservation in Arizona is held the famous "Snake Dance" performed by the Hopi Indians. No one questions the right of the Hopi to a place in the tribal council fire. They are probably the best known of our Western Indians and are classed with Cliff Dwellers.

The Hopi "Snake Dance" is a serious, ritualistic ceremony considered necessary to induce the powers above to create rain and good crops. The handling of the snakes is a mystery. Without harm to himself, the performer dances around with a snake in his mouth, while he grasps and carries other snakes in his arms. This striking ceremony lasts for nine days and is preceded by four days of prayer as the Hopis visit the temple and sing praises to their Gods.

ERNEST "EAGLE PLUME" Naquayouma is a member of this tribe and was born at Second Mesa, Arizona, April 6, 1906. He was raised and educated on the reservation and knows the customs and ceremonial dances of his people. When 17 years of age, he left home and toured throughout the country with a troupe of his own tribesmen giving performances of the "Snake Dance." His troupe performed on the White House lawn before ex-president Herbert Hoover and his Congress.

In the capacity of a dance instructor, he joins the Arlington Heights Camp Welasi day camp staff and in full tribal costume will teach the Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls the intricate dance and rhythm patterns of various ceremonial dances.

MR. NAQUAYOUMA, who lives with his Winnebago wife, Lone Deer and their three grown children, Dolores "Good Corn Harvest," Ramona "Corn Blossom" and Ernest "Eagle Plume," Jr., is the son of a Hopi chief and has made the most of his ancestry and heritage.

He did considerable work at Yale university translating and remaking the recordings of his language which were made many years before by a great scholar and which through continual usage by language students had become very difficult to understand. He did some more language work at Columbia university. For five years, during the summer months, he operated a concession at Indian point on the Hudson River. He taught the arts and crafts of the Hopi Indian, such as work in silver, pottery, beads, katchina dolls, weaving and tooled leather.

In time he came to Chicago and settled down with his family, working as a jewelry maker in a Michigan ave. shop and later at a loop department store doing sales promotional work on various Indian items. During the war years, he worked in defense industries and is now employed by Signode Steel Strapping Co.

IN ADDITION to teaching tribal dance steps to the 190 registered day camp enthusiasts, Chief Eagle Plume will have on display during the Monday and Wednesday sessions, his many katchina dolls, fashioned of cottonwood and symbolic of Indian mythology deities.

The Camp Fire-Blue Bird district day camp will be held at Busse forest 5 and 6, Bierman's shelter from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on June 23, 25 and 27. (B8

Livestock Poisoning Accidents

Livestock can be poisoned accidentally in a surprising number of way, according to Dr. R. P. Link of the University College of Veterinary Medicine.

Treated seed and certain insecticides, rat poisons, paints and even various medicines can cause accidental poisoning.

One source of chemical poisoning is lead paint that the animals lick from painted surfaces or from discarded paint buckets. Many of the rat baits may also poison farm animals.

Arsenate of lead, used in orchard sprays, may poison livestock if the spray drifts into the pasture or onto a pond. If the water level of the pond goes down, the chemical in the water may become concentrated to become highly poisonous.

Even such livestock medicines as sodium fluoride, nicotine sulfate and carbon disulfide are deadly when given in the wrong amounts. For this reason they should be used only on the advice of a veterinarian.

Dr. Link says the safe way to handle dangerous chemicals is to follow the directions on the container and to keep them out of reach of livestock. (Fm

Plan July Tour

A project tour for July 25 was decided upon at the June 5 meeting of Hanover Hawks 4-H club. Also a tour of the Quaker Oats farm laboratory was planned. Still another highlight of the meeting was the announcement that the Hanover Hawks band had won at Share the Fun.

Randy Klien gave a talk on making a rope halter; Ronald Rahlfs on his beef project; Cheryl Fakles on gardening; Bill Kerchenfaut on the judging of chickens; Ellen Halat on the care of sheep; Janat Olsen on making a heat lamp brooder; Orville Brettman on soil; and Donna Di Matteo on training a calf.

Farmers Becoming Minority

Not only are farmers becoming a minority in our total population, but they are also a minority in the total rural population. According to C. L. Folse, University of Illinois rural sociologist, more nonfarmers than farmers now live in the open country.

And the farm population is growing older, Folse points out. More than 55 per cent of all farmers are 45 years old. Almost one-half of the families have no children under 18 years.

With these changes in farm population, the rural school is passing out of the picture. Schools are moving to larger centers. The basic property tax on farm land to support schools has become a burden on farmers, who are paying a rather large part of their taxes to support a smaller proportion of children. And churches and small business in the small community are finding a shrinking patronage.

With the changing character of the farm family, an increasing number of women on farms are finding jobs away from the farm, Folse points out. In recent years the proportion of farm wives working outside the home has been increasing more rapidly than in any other group. This trend insures a higher level of living and a constant income for the farm family.

All of these changes decrease the political influence of farm people in local communities. But they also tend to make rural living more and more like that of city people, Folse concludes.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

AFTER NINE MONTHS at the University of Illinois—the final nine months following four years—we have taken over for Bob Paddock in this column and hope we can continue to bring readers interesting notes on both national and local sports with emphasis on the high schools in the area served by Paddock Publications.

One question we've asked in recent years is why the West Suburban conference, generally a top producer of athletic talent, has seldom turned out a baseball player who has tried—and been successful—to make a go in professional ball? One of the rare exceptions to this case will probably be Vic Pagel, the highly-touted Maine grad who just might ink a contract before the summer is out. Pagel has as much potential for the big show as the league has seen in a long time, but it's hoped that the Maine standout will hold off signing and attend college first. But when that big money faces this teenager, it may be hard to turn down.

VIC PAGEL

One of the only WSC grads we've been able to find in the Class B or higher minor leagues is Nate Smith, LaGrange '55, who is hitting .270 with Green Bay in the Three-I league. And Smith was not considered an outstanding Major League prospect in high school. The old Northwest conference has some candidates for the Majors in Grayslake's Jay Hook and Gale Peregrin and Grant's Bobby Klaus. Hook is the best possibility with a 6-3 mark with Nashville of the Southern Association, a mark which includes 70 strikeouts in 80 innings. He also has a fine 3.60 earned run mark. Peregrin is 5-3 with Palatka of the Florida State loop while Klaus just completed his junior year at Illinois, was named to the All-Conference team for the second straight year, and at last report was headed for South Dakota for some summer ball.

BLOOM HIGH SCHOOL'S set of all-time track records is something to admire. Several college conferences don't boast of such outstanding marks. The 100 and 220 standards are :09.7 and :21.2 by, of course, Leroy Jackson. Fred Macklin holds the 440 mark with a :48.9 clocking, and the 1958 state half mile champ, sophomore Lynn Griffin, holds the record in his specialty at 1:57.6. Other marks are: Mile—4:29.6; 180 yard low hurdles—:19.5; 120 yard high hurdles—:14.6; Discus—159-1; Shot Put—54-10; Pole Vault—12-6; Broad Jump—23-0; 880 yard relay—1:30; and Mile Relay—3:21.7.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Jimmy McBride, manager of the Bill Erickson Boosters of Evanston. McBride was one of the most popular pilots in the semi-pro circuit, and he led the Boosters to the state title two years ago. Black's Boosters have two tilts against the Erickson squad, August 23 at home and August 30 in Evanston's Boltwood Park. Art Septke of Mt. Prospect is a catcher on the Erickson squad again this summer.

Speaking of Black's Boosters, the local squad faced one of the Big Ten's All-Time greats recently and shelled him out of the box in the second inning. Pitching for the Skokie Indians was Marv Rotblatt, formerly of Illinois and the Chicago White Sox. At Illinois Rotblatt, who last year pitched for Syracuse of the Class A Eastern League, had a 6-0 Big Ten record his senior year and fanned 62, allowing only 40 hits in 53 frames. Marv fanned 18 Purdue Boilermakers on April 30, 1948 for another single game record.

TWO FORMER PREP basketball stars who helped guide their teams to state championships have accepted coaching positions in Illinois high schools. Paul Judson, who sparked Hebron to the '53 state title, has accepted a head coaching spot at Mattoon high school, and Chuck Sedgwick, a stalwart on LaGrange's '54 titlists, will work under his former high school coach, Greg Sloan, at Rich. Judson captained the University of Illinois team, and Sedgwick gained three letters for Bradley.

Six DuPage county towns will be represented in a new West Suburban swimming conference. Glen Ellyn, Wheaton, Downers Grove, Clarendon Hills, Western Springs, and the Field Club of LaGrange have entered the loop with a conference championship meet slated for August.

The University of Illinois did a creditable job of recruiting at Proviso high school, a well-regarded Suburban league school for producing top collegiate athletes. Football stars Eddie Bradovich, a 6-3 ,205-pounder; Richard Dunwoody, all-state guard; and Tom Colando, another top Suburban league lineman, are all headed for Illinois. Also announcing for the state school are Frank Reda, an outstanding pitcher, and Bert Temler, 135-pound state wrestling champ.

DAVE NICHOLSON, the highly-publicized Baltimore bonus boy, who signed for a sum in excess of $100,000, may not hit very often, but when he connects, he makes people take notice. Playing for Wilson in the Carolina League, Nicholson is only hitting .252 but he recently blasted a 535-foot homer which sailed over the 350-foot fence and left its imprint on the ground 185 feet beyond the barrier. Nicholson, who has trouble with a curve ball, had six homers in his first 25 games for Wilson after starting the season at Knoxville in the Sally loop.

Saturday's running of the Grassland Handicap at Washington Park is for $20,000 added at six furlongs on the turf. It was inaugurated in 1941 and last run in '55 when Steve Brooks piloted Blue Choir to victory. Among the outstanding turf runners who have won the spectacle are Pellicle, 1947; Stan ,1953; and Brush Burn, 1954.

The top point-getter for Hinsdale's track team this spring was Dave Wenaas with 114½ points . . . Bob McDonald, former Arlington golf star, advanced to the semi-finals of the Chick Evans Amateur golf tourney at the Southmoor Country club before bowing to Des Plaine's Don Pauley, 3 and 2 . . . Jon Spelman, York's top athlete for 1957-58, is headed for Iowa State on a football scholarship . . . Larry Pietrzak, one of Glenbard's top baseball performers, will go to Minnesota . . . Gaylen Krause of York will attempt to double in basketball and baseball at Southern Illinois while two other Dukes, Wayne Millies and Len Mahony, have both received four year basketball scholarships with Millies heading for the University of Colorado and Mahony to Murray State in Kentucky.

Bokelmann Tops Skokie Indians On 4 Hits, 5-0

by RANDY THOMAS

The honorable Mr. Richard Bokelmann of Arlington Heights, and ace of the Black's Boosters mound corps, made his first start since May 25 last Sunday and climaxed a perfect week of baseball for Black's with a refreshing 4-hit, 5-0 whitewash over the Skokie Indians.

Bokelmann's first win of the season in three efforts, and only shutout recorded by an Arlington pitcher to date, elevated the locals into a third place tie with the Kolski Boosters who were beaten 6-4 by the Chicago Vets Sunday.

Richard's outstanding work was typical of the fine hurling Black's received all week long in chalking up four straight wins, and five out of their last six games.

TONIGHT, (Thursday) the Boosters will travel to Wing Park in Elgin for an 8 p.m. arc-light affair with the Elgin VFW. Tuesday, June 24, the locals travel to Racine for a 7:30 p.m. tilt with the Racine Redbirds.

On June 7 they stalled the Des Plaines Merchants 9-6 with Ernie Kumerow yielding only five hits. Then on the 11th, Kumerow and Bob Miller combined to top Burlington, Wis., 11-5. Kumerow worked the first five frames gaining credit for his second victory in four days giving just four hits while Miller mopped up in flawless style, fanning seven, four in one inning.

Miller's and Bokelmann's heroics followed to cap a perfect week. All told the pair has now allowed only one run and nine hits in their last two outings, embracing 24 innings for an almost unheard of 0.38 earned run average.

BOKELMANN, like Miller on Saturday, had excellent control and walked only one man. He allowed only two men to get as far as third base, one in the fifth and another in the eighth.

Black's knocked out starter and loser, and former White Sox, Marv Rotblatt in the second, when the chubby lefty got wild. In the frame, the winners picked up three runs as Rotblatt loaded the bases with one out. Bokelmann walked forcing in Ed Scheppes, who was hit and who also had his consecutive game hitting streak stopped at eight.

Then shortstop Jerry Fiarito picked up an RBI when Ed Meinken scored as Bokelmann was being forced at second. This brought on Skokie reliefer, Nick Agnos, who threw one pitch to Dick Lloyd who in turn banged it back to second baseman Ray Kozub, who in turn fumbled it allowing Lloyd Meyer to score.

Bokelmann who had walked. Bill Sutherland lined to Kozub who held on this time for the third out.

THE RED-HOT Meinken started the two run eighth off Agnos with his third line hit to center which gave him half of the total six Booster hits of the afternoon. He rumbled to third when third baseman Lachmann threw wild to second trying to force him on a ball hit by Meyer. Bokelmann walked and then Fiarito dropped a hit to center scoring Meinken, who has hit safely in five of the seven matches he has appeared in for a lusty .450 mark.

Meyer countered on Lloyd's sacrifice fly for the fifth and final run. (Sp

Three Squads Still Boast Perfect Marks in AH Play

Three squads still boast unbeaten records as Arlington's eight summer leagues battle the elements and the schedule in a wet month of June.

Jack Mutti's Indians, Bill Gunnison's Gophers, and Bob Herigodt and Bob LeStarge's powerpacked Spartans are still without a sample of that first defeat this season with the Spartans' eight victories topping the list.

Although the Indians and Gophers are moving along without hindrance, they still are being pressed for that leadership. However, in the Southside Juniors loop the Spartans have a comfortable 3½ game bulge over the second place Angels.

A FIVE-RUN outburst in the home half of the sixth inning gave the Orioles an impressive 8-7 win over the Phillies in Pony League action. Gramit picked up the win on a six inning performance while Nabb was tagged with the loss.

The Giants still hold a slim half game lead over the Cubs in the National division following a sweep during the week, including a 7-1 decision over the Cards and a 7-2 chilling of the Braves.

In other National League action the Pirates edged the Dodgers, 8-7. No other information was available on these contests.

THREE ONE-HIT performances highlighted action in the American League as the Yankees, Red Sox, and White Sox continue to stage a terrific battle for first place.

The Athletics' Johnston hurled the first one-hitter with help from Splittorff who relieved in the sixth, as the Little League A's clubbed the Tigers and three hurlers, 15-2. Winkelhake and Baker had three hits each for the winners and Johnston added a triple.

Yankees' Tindell hurled the second one-hitter as he masterfully set down the Red Sox, 4-1. The only safety was a homer by the loser's Kephart. Layden cracked a four-base blow for the winners off Brodnan.

CORDES CHALKED up the third masterpiece when he stopped the Senators on one hit, 2-1. Layden, the long-ball threat of the Yanks, slammed another homer and also added a double. Bakas collected a triple.

The Athletics pulled a Major League Chicago White Sox trick, June 10, when they collected seven hits but still failed to score. Arlington's Little League White Sox came out on top, 6-0, with Lips picking up a well-deserved win.

Brodnan proved just as effective at the plate as he normally does on the mound when he clubbed three Tigers' pitchers for two homers and a double in an impressive 22-0 Red Sox victory. Kephart twirled a neat two-hitter as the Red Sox scored in every inning but the second, including ten big runs in the first.

The White Sox pulled out another win when White fanned 11 in a 12-5 decision over the Senators, June 14. The Sox hurler also collected two hits.

IN BABE RUTH league play the Lions used two runs in the final frame to edge the Browns, 3-2. Williams was the winner with Gregg Beckway getting the loss. Both young moundsmen allowed only three hits.

Lips bested Frank O'Connell in another tight dual, June 11, as the Lions topped the Bears, 3-2. Lips fanned 12 and walked only 2 while O'Connell had 11 strikeouts and just 1 pass.

Cordes hurled a four-hit shutout, June 12, as the Indians continued along their winning ways with a 4-0 decision over the Redlegs and Brodnan. The winning chucker fanned nine and walked three while Brodnan had a 12-2 comparison in these departments.

A HOMER by Holst helped provide some of the impetus for a one-sided 15-1 Blues' victory over the Owls in a Northside juniors contest. Hedberg gained the win for two innings of work while Jeff Miller absorbed the loss.

Another wild affair found the Owls pushing across 18 runs in only three innings in an 18-7 win over the Bisons. The Badgers and Millers also joined in the act with 14-1 and 16-7 victories respectively over Gulls and Bisons.

Miller's 2-Hitter Checks Aurora in Tournament, 4-1

Three superlative pitching performances highlighted the first round of play in the Aurora District Tournament last weekend as Arlington's Bob Miller started the parade in hurling Black's Boosters to a two-hit, four to one victory over the Aurora Royals.

Crafty Gene Tarabilda succeeded Miller to the mound in the second contest and proceeded to pitch no hit, no run ball for 6 1/3 innings while leading the Rockford Blackhawks to a five to two win over Big Rock.

Thus, Black's, with either Miller or Dick Bokelmann, will probably oppose Tarabilda and Rockford in the initial game of the semi-finals Saturday at 1:00.

Jerry Thomas qualified the Sycamore Sons for semi-final play with the only no-hitter ever witnessed in Aurora District history, blanking the Chicago Phillies, 3-0.

The host club, Aurora Tigers, 8-1 conquerors of the J.B. Reed Braves in last Sunday's second game, clash with Sycamore in Saturday's second semi-final match, with the two winners meeting Sunday for the title and the right to perform in the State Semi-pro Tourney in Elgin. Sunday's first struggle pits Saturday's losers against each other for third place.

MILLER'S dazzling feat, by far his finest effort of the year, was achieved in clockwork fashion. He was ahead of most of the hitters and had little trouble in making the ball do what he wanted in the two hour contest. The little lefty, who has apparently come into his own, allowed Aurora's lone run in the first

"BOB MILLER"

Leadoff hitter Sam Medernach doubled to center, and it appeared he would die there as Miller, now 2-2, fanned the next batter and got Vic Fezekas on a tap to the mound. But, leftfielder Bob Piscoran blooped a hit to right, the Royal's last, scoring Medernach before "Mil" fanned the fifth man, retiring the side.

His clockwork procedure began to click after he issued his only pass of the afternoon to leadoff hitter Ray Thill in the second. He received a break when the next man stepped into a batted ball and was ruled out.

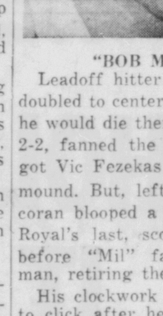
BOOSTER CATCHER George O'Brien threw out Thill trying to steal and Miller fanned Tom Korody, Aurora catcher for the third out.

He then mowed down the next 15 in succession before the contest was called at the end of seven innings by a 3:30 time limit placed on all first round opening games.

His 11 strikouts, four of which came consecutively, from the second through the third, and the 6 of 7 batters he fanned from the second through the fourth frame, boosted his team leading total to 39 for 12 innings pitched. In addition he has completed two of his three starts while walking only 13.



Bill Sprincz, the loose-jointed outfielder-infielder, sparked the weak, but timely Booster five hit attack off two Royal pitchers with 3-for-3, a walk, two runs scored and drove home the club's first run in the second.

Black's scored another in the fourth on Sprincz's second hit and three consecutive fress passes.

They iced it in the sixth when two more checked in, developing from Sprincz's walk, Ed Scheppes' hit, his eighth straight game in which he has hit safely, and a pinch single to left by Bob Getts. O'Brien walked loading the bases and then Lloyd Meyer walked to force Getts in with the Boosters' fourth and final score. (Sp

Prep League Team Blanks Deerfield, 2-0

The Mt. Prospect Bruning Prep League team defeated Deerfield, 2-0, June 12, at Deerfield behind the four-hit pitching of Bork.

Mt. Prospect opened the scoring in the fifth inning when Peterson reached first on an error, was sacrificed to second by Boedeker, and scored when McMillan was safe on an error.

Henkel tallied the second run when after slapping out a base hit, Boedeker reached base on an error and McMillan singled.

BORK'S PITCHING masterpiece was aided by the strong defensive play of Leekley, McMillan, and Blake and by shortstop Grams.

The Bruning team will play its first league game Thursday evening, June 19, at Lions Park against Glenview Realty. All Mt. Prospect baseball fans are invited to see this 15-to-17 year old baseball team. (Sp

Des Plaines Merchants Open Tourney Action

The Des Plaines Merchants and La Grange Giants will clash in the opening round of the sixth annual Chicago district baseball tournament June 22 at 2:30 p.m. at West Park in Des Plaines.

The winner and runner-up in this tournament will both compete in the state tournament at Elgin starting July 16. Illinois' state winner will then qualify for the national tourney in Wichita (August 15), and the national champion will be entered in the Global World Series scheduled for September.

GREATER MIDWEST league also opens its league season with the first game of the state district playoffs so these tournament games serve a dual purpose, counting toward the state as well as the league championship.

Des Plaines' Merchants will face a 14 game schedule starting next week to determine the winners of the league's two brackets. The two bracket winners will play a two-out-of-three series to determine the champion.

Last Sunday the Merchants took their second loss of the campaign at the hands of Cole-Lenzi, 3-2. Basically, it was due to two Cole-Lenzi performers, pitcher Stepnick and shortstop Bereckis. Stepnick hurled six hit ball and fanned six and Bereckis slammed two homers, one off Fred Holzl and another off Bob Hamilton, the latter a game-deciding blow.

MANAGER KENTZEL was impressed with the showing of Raleigh, an ex-Maine pitcher who held Cole-Lenzi scoreless and yielded only one hit, walking one and fanning four in three innings.

Des Plaines tallied in the fifth when John Perrill, a letterwinner at Northwestern this spring, singled and moved around on walk, error, and infield grounder which resulted in another misplay. The Merchants tied the game in the sixth when W. Kentzel singled with one out, advanced to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on an infield out, and scored on a single by Bissa.

Close Games Top Action In Mt. Prospect Baseball

On June 12 the Merchants and Schwans of the Mt. Prospect Little League played to a 6-6 tie when the game was called because of darkness. Murphy pitched one inning for the Merchants with Wilkes finishing the game. Pitchers for the Schwans were Dvorak and McClean. On June 15 the Merchants slaughtered the Country Club, 29-2. Murphy of the Merchants had two doubles in this game.

On June 10 the Builders played the Professionals with Pro's the victors 9-2. Extra base hitter for the Builders was J. Selle with a triple. For the Pro's Heinrich had a double. June 14 Builders lost to Lions 12-3. Extra Base Hits—Builders—Simpson with a triple, Lions—Durgin and Ryan each with doubles.

ON JUNE 11 Country Club tossed Lions with a score of 4-1. WP—Stoike, LP—Koopman. It was a pitchers' battle all the way with no errors throughout the whole game. On June 13 Country Club again won over Union Realty with a score of 10-6. WP—Scotty Paris, LP—Luebecke. Stevens hit a home run with two on for the Country Club and they scored six runs in the sixth inning to win.

Tokoph tallied the winning run in the last inning as the Sox got by the Gulls, 7-6. Stoehr was the winning hurler with 13 strikeouts in the six inning contest.

Joe Reid led the Seals to a 17-1 win over the Solons with a 12-strikeout performance. The winners pounded out 16 hits, eight for extra bases.

Offense seemed to be the keynote in this league during the week as the Ravens continued the onslaught on pitchers with a 12-6 win over the Rangers. The Ravens backed this up with a 13-3 decision over the Huskies, then the Dons and Stars used seven as the magic number in posting 7-4 and 7-6 decisions over the Seals and Rangers respectively.

ANY RESEMBLANCE to a tight race and what's going on in the Southside Juniors loop is purely coincidental. The Spartans are rolling along at ease with their latest victory — a crushing 17-3 decision over the Padres. LeStarge picked up the easy win as he coasted to a three-hitter.

Gregory's three-hitter helped the Wrens past the Padres, 7-2, and Pasvogel chucked a nice four-hitter in leading the Buckeyes over the Angels, 10-6.

The Buckeyes and Oaks slugged it out, June 11, with the Buckeyes finally coming out on top, 12-10. The two teams clubbed out 30 hits with the Buckeyes also coming out on top in this department, 16-14.

Arlington Legion Captures 2 Tilts

by BOB FRISK

Dave Soenksen saved one game and hurled six brilliant innings in a second to push Arlington's Jr. Legion baseball team to two impressive victories in the initial contests of the 1958 campaign.

The locals, managed by Dave Lynk, an Arlington grad in 1955, were slated to meet Elmwood Park on Wednesday night of this week with a single affair against Rolling Meadows at Pioneer Park Saturday at 5 p.m.

IN ARLINGTON'S opening 8-7 victory over River Grove Soenksen, a tall right hander, relieved tiring Don Gerken in the last inning with the tying run on third and only one out, and squelched the rally with a strikeout and easy infield grounder.

Although he did tire in the late innings, Gerken was impressive in the first six frames against River Grove. He fanned 11 and walked only two.

Lee Magnuson, Arlington's All-Conference centerfielder this spring, led the local legion attack with two triples, and second baseman Al Hutchinson added a double and single to a 13-hit barrage.

SOENKSEN WAS at his best against Portage Park Sunday with a 3-hit, 16 strikeout performance in a six inning chore. In order to get a look at another member of his pitching staff, Manager Lynk inserted right hander Phil Gustafson in the seventh and the latter fanned two in his brief stint.

Three boys paced the attack against Portage with third baseman Dick Nickelsen, catcher Tom Grey, and Soenksen each collecting two safeties.

IN THE FIRST pair of contests Lynk started the same infield from first to third of Dan Borgen, Hutchinson, Keith Voight, a freshman, and Dick Nickelsen. The outfield consisted of Al Sander, Magnuson, and Art Tews with Dave Varnado filling in capably. Mark Thorne is another valuable sub as he can fill in on the mound or at first base. Thorne is the only lefty on the pitching staff with Gerken, Soenksen, Gustafson, and Dave Kussow rounding out the mound corps.

Dick Amann, Arlington graduate in 1954, is Lynk's assistant coach this summer as the locals compete in an eight team league. Squads in the ninth district include Palatine, Elmwood Park, River Grove, Portage, Rolling Meadows, Park Ridge 1 and 2, and Arlington. (Sp

Palatine Legion Wins Opener, 5-3, Behind White

Palatine's Jr. Legion team got off to a fast start Sunday with a 5-3 league victory over Rolling Meadows.

Don White went the distance for Claude Bailey's nine, fanning five and yielding no walks.

Next games for the locals are a tilt in Park Ridge tonight (Thursday) against Park Ridge Bat 6 p.m. and a home affair with Elmwood Park Saturday at 11 a.m. Sunday Palatine meets Portage Park, a 10-2 victim of Arlington in its opener, at 2 p.m.

A FOUR-RUN fourth inning was the big explosion for the locals in the victory over Rolling Meadows. Six men batted with Jack Nichol leading off the frame with a walk. Singles by Harvey Foster, Jack Freter, and Jack Nelson were important blows of the inning.

In the fifth Barney Schurz singled, stole second, and came home on Foster's second sharp single.

Bailey's starting lineup consisted of Billy Baumrucker at first, Nelson at second, Dissing at short, and Dietrich at third. Foster was doing the catching with Schurz, Freter, and Nichol in the outfield. (Sp

Thomas Hurls MP No-Hitter

Due to inclement weather, the Mt. Prospect Sox only played one game last week but they turned it into their fourth straight win, an 8-2 decision over the Prospect Heights Giants. The game was called at the end of five innings because of darkness.

LaRocco and Sbarbaro were two of the big hitters in the contest. LaRocco slapped out a triple and double and Sbarbaro pounded out a double with the bases loaded for three runs. Thiele hit a pair of doubles for the Giants.

The Giants fought an uphill battle and though losing 4-1 in the fourth inning, came from behind with two runs in the fifth and two in the seventh to post a 5-4 victory against Wheeling.

Fitts, the winning pitcher, struck out nine while walking two. The highlight of the game was the timely hitting of Thomas again. Thiele, who got four of the Giants' six hits, smashed out a treble and two doubles. He also did a creditable job behind the plate.

Webber Paint Cops Top Spot In Friday Golf

Webber Paint team took over first place in the Friday night Twilight league at Arlington in a continuing, close week to week fight for the coveted spot. The first four teams are only three points apart, as of Friday night, June 13.

Friday, June 20, is position night, with the first and second teams "shooting" each other, and so on down to the 11th and 12th place teams, which with a few breaks can start up the ladder. After this night's play, refreshments will be served and a golf movie will be shown. All players are invited to attend what promises to be a fine evening.

We have a very capable president in Al Walter, and here is one reason why: Your reporter has been asked by him to ask for three or four alternates who will be playing as soon as they join up with us. This will assure them of getting assigned to regular team play next year. This helps the league in addition to having the new men get acquainted this year.

Bakers Regains Arlington VFW League Lead

The Charlies' brief tenure in first place was brutally ended when the Georges swept all seven points in the Monday Arlington golf league. Captain Bud Kreusch's fine round of 37 led his team into a second place tie.

The Bakers regained their familiar spot of first place even though Captain George Hanke was beaten by Frank Pasterino in one of the closest matches of the evening. Both shot steady rounds of 37's and the match was not decided until the last hole when Hanke missed a decisive putt.

The Easys escaped the cellar by sweeping all seven points from the Jigs. After a bad start Captain Jack Peters turned on the heat including an eagle three on the 15th hole to lead his team to the sweep. His teammate Bob Brown added to the victory with some nice golf scoring a 41-11 net 30 which took low net honors for the night.

Plennert's 35 Heads Gerbing

Gerbing Mfg. Corp. swamped Arlington Milk 6-0 Wednesday at Chevy Chase to take over top spot in the Lady of the Wayside Golf League. Chuck Cronin, Frank Plennert, Oscar Dalleslarger and Bob Ulbrich Sr., cleaned the board as far as the points were concerned. Plennert gained low net with a 35. All was not lost, however, as the foursome of Lou Stefanik, Jordan Italia, Ed Keegan and Howie Jack enjoyed the fresh air and sunshine. As far as the rest of the league was concerned, they should have "stood in bed."

Team 7, with Don Engstrom at the helm, managed to squeeze into a tie with Garden Liquor Mart for second place as they fashioned a 4-2 win over Team 8. Team 8 was represented by only two men as Hank Wist and Augie Bonucchi were the only men to play their match. They defeated Bob Pagliai and Dave Marini of No. 7 but were the victims o ftwo defaults as Joe Foreman and Tom McGrath won without opposition. Don Engstrom shot the low net for the evening with a 32 to pick up low net point even though he was the alternate.

GARDEN LIQUOR Mart took Continental Can Co. 5½-½ as they received all except ½ point from the Can Co. team as Tony Marini tied Jack Boland. Chet Mrozek defeated Tom Strass, Greg Moody took the measure of Bob Botterman and Tom Barrett won over Ted Pilat for the liquor store. Sponsor Dick Drblet donated a prize for low net a few weeks ago and the league is very appreciative.

Team 5 defeated Team 3, 3½-2½ as Pat Gilmore's 5 team was aided by the addition of Earl Scherrer, one of the top amateurs in the parish and also winner of the annual parish tournament in 1956 with a 70 gross at Nordic Hills. Pat and Earl both won their matches, Pat over Howie Johnson. Bob Wirth and Bill Hickey gained victories for Team 3 by defeating Tom Waldron and Bob Ulbrich Jr.

Getz brought in a 40 net to insure the show slot with a five point win over Arlington Pharmacy. Morava moved up three paces when G. Dent carded a 37 net to spur them on to a seven point victory over Hagenbring's. I. Pinkos 38 net pushed Webber's up a pace when they took Prairie Lee for six points. D. Wahl's 37 net nudged O'Hare up two slots with a 6½ point margin over Heights' Liquors. Keefer's Pharmacy got into stride and moved ahead three notches when V. Foy chalked up a 40 net to push them on to a 7½ point victory over Spiegler's.

Nona MacKay and Charlotte Stoddard had the thril lof each sinking approach shots, Nona on hole 5 and Charlotte on hole 13. The match to watch next week will be when O'Hare challenges Morava.

New Emerald Cleaners & Dyers are in second just one point out of first with their big 9½-2½ win over the Schiller team.

Low net 32 was shared by Geo. Miscevich and Rudy Lippke. The "bird shooters" were led by Paul Malchow with two. One bird each was carded by Len Dunteman, John Flint, Cecil Jamison, Carl Engel, Jim Campbell, Len Haines, Bob Kreutz and alternate Ernie Simmons.

Arlington Pharmacy Deals Kamps Signs 1st Defeat

Friday the 13th proved to be just that for Kamps Signs as the scratch league leaders suffered their first defeat of the season by dropping a 4½-2½ decision to Arlington Pharmacy. Avery Harris lost his first match, and eight teams picked up at least one point on the leaders.

Still in second place but now only 1½ points out of first is L-Nor Cleaners. Sparked by Don Hager's 34, one under par, and Len Arnold's 35, they defeated Sterling Oil 4-3. Ed Moehling shot even par for the losers to beat Dick Burket.

Lohr's Pharmacy moved to within two points of the lead by taking five points from Flaherty Jewelers. Bob Blessing shot a fine 34, two under par on the back nine to beat Dan Musser and pick up the losers only two points.

PROBABLY THE most heartbreaking match of the evening occurred when Peterson Floor beat Lattof Motors 5-2. Johnny Eiler, playing for the losers, shot a one under par 35, but still lost to Johnny Andrup, who shot a neat 34. The match wasn't decided until the final hole where Andrup's par 3 beat Eiler's only bogey to win 1 up.

For a course that played long due to the heavy rains, scores were exceptionally good as 27 golfers broke 40, seven shooting par or better.

Five league members played in the recent Pro-Amateur Tournament sponsored by Old Orchard Country Club and host Pro Lou Sabo. Thirty-seven pros and 117 amateurs participated. The course proved to be tough as only two golfers were able to break 70. League participants were Dick Burket—72, Avery Harris — 73, Len Arnold—74, Ed Moehling — 78 and Al Greene—78.

Paddock Golf Tourney Aug. 17

Twilight league golfers of this area are beginning to set their sights on the Paddock tournament Sunday, Aug. 17. First place teams of local leagues as of Aug. 2 will be eligible for the tourney at Nordic Hills Aug. 17.

Fourteen leagues vied for honors last year, with Wheeling Lumber of Arlington country club Friday night league taking home the large traveling trophy.

Leagues competing last year include Old Orchard Scratch, St. James, Arlington Heights Twilight, Arlington VFW, Arlington CC Friday, St. Raymonds Nos. 1 and 2, Our Lady of the Wayside, Tioga VFW Nos. 1 and 2, Roselle, Rob Roy Tuesday and Mt. Prospect Monday and Tuesday leagues.

Official entry blanks are expected to go into the mails next week to all league secretaries. Greens fees, paid by participating leagues at time of making entries, will amount to $15 per foursome. There is no other charge to golfers.

Four Birdies Top Week's Action In Golf League

This week's play in Mt. Prospect Tuesday night was highlighted by Ed Stofft's bird on 1, Kadlec on 16, Double with one on the tough 17 and Jeuck on the par five 15.

By looking at the season's totals below, you will see that the twelve team league has been divided into three sections, each of them tight. Only two points divide the first three teams but there is a lot of daylight between third and fourth place. Then only four points divide the last six teams. The final three have a ways to go before they can compete in the race.

Sunday with blustering winds, a little rain and unseasonable coolness was the annual husband and wife two ball foursome outing. The turnout was good in view of the weather, almost everyone won prizes and the picnic air continued in the club house during a prolonged supper hour.

Dahl Hits 33 In Cleaners' Drive to Lead

L'Nor Cleaners, by taking four points Wednesday night, June 11, while Lauterburg & Oehler was netting only three points, gained a tie for the lead in the St. James league. Jerry Dahl's net of 33 led the Cleaner's drive for the lead. The team has not had a losing night since the season opened, but Kindler's Ice Cream boys will try to change that on June 18.

Prospect Heights Service Station jumped back into serious contention by taking five points from Black's Memorial Home which slipped back into fourth place. John Foerster's net of 32 led the way for the Station team.

Team 8 picked up a sponsor, Prospect Heights Pharmacy, and immediately picked up steam to move out of last place. Glueckert's Lounge also came to life and scored five points, losing only one match and one point to Rapp's Restaurant.

Low Individual net for the night went to Jack Zito with a 29.

Arlington Hts. Pools Seem Remote from Cuban Tumult

The peaceful surroundings of Arlington Heights' two swimming pools is a far cry from the situation in Santiago, Cuba.

There the signs of a revolution are apparent.

Youths are seized on the streets — for no cause. In 24 or 48 hours they are released. Their fingers have been cut off, and their teeth knocked out. Other physical torture has been applied.

THEIR STARTLED parents ask "why?"

"Our boys had done nothing," they explain. Underneath, the parents know the answer, however. It is the government's way of keeping the populace "in line."

At the pools in Arlington Heights are two youths — Ruben Roca, and his brother Rudolpho, 18, who know what Cuba today is like. That's precisely why they're here.

Like most of the youths who lived near Santiago Bay, the Roca boys became good swimmers. Now they're lifeguards at the Arlington Heights pools.

HOW DID THEY get here?

That's a long, and touching story, that only Robert Himel, of 220 Graceland in Des Plaines, can explain in detail.

Late in 1956, the Himels spent a winter in Santiago. As a youth in 1929, Himel was a standout swimmer with Maine township high school and has retained his love for the sport.

One day, while swimming in Santiago Bay, Himel's eye was caught by seven youths nearby. They were performing a back stroke turn Himel had never seen before.

Although Himel couldn't speak Spanish and his wife's 10 lessons in the language seemed inadequate, they tackled the problem of speaking with the youths.

"We were surprised, however," Himel said. "Didn't have much trouble at all talking with the boys."

FROM THAT chance contact resulted a sequence of events that brought the Roca boys to the United States where they attended Maine township high school last year and now are planning to enter North Central college at Naperville this fall.

Himel's next step after speaking with the boys was to contact the American Consulate in Santiago.

"What will become of these boys?" he asked an attache.

"They'll probably be killed," he was told.

The attache was interested in a better life for the youth and Cuba but was powerless to act. However, Himel caught the inference. He could help them if he wished.

"Could we take a boy home?" Himel asked.

Yes, said the attache. It could be arranged if the parents gave their consent.

THEN FOLLOWED swift-moving consultations between Himel and his wife on how many they should take; between the boys and their parents, and between the Consulate in Santiago and the State Department in Washington.

It was decided the two boys would go back to the United States with the Himels. During the negotiations, the Himels did not meet the boys' parents. That came later. At the moment, they were simply informed that the parents had given permission.

"They hate to lose them, but want them to live," the attache explained.

The Roca boys adjusted quickly to life in Des Plaines, enrolled at Maine and became standouts on the swimming team. Their only problem was language but that has virtually disappeared now.

RUBEN GOT IN a full season of competition with the Maine swimming team and was good enough to win a berth on the All-American high school swimming team, that he earned by swimming the 200-yard free style in record time.

Rudolpho, the older of the two, made the Maine team too—as a sprint swimmer.

Both graduated this past term, Rudolpho getting his degree at midyear and Ruben this spring. Rudolpho enrolled at the Navy Pier branch of the University of Illinois and concentrated on language.

Now, both he and his brother are ready for college. On the basis of their athletic abillity, North Central College is helping with their tuition. Ruben will study to become a doctor, Rudolpho a mechanical engineer.

Will they ever return to Cuba?

Definitely yes, says their sponsor who regards himself as just a "temporary parent."

"They are here on student visas. We didn't adopt them. Someday, when the trouble in Cuba is straightened out, and their very fine parents have regained their proper place in Santiago," they will return to their home," Himel said.

THE BOYS' FATHER is Mariano Roca, 44, who is the Chrysler-Plymouth distributor for the entire Oriente province, was president of the Santiago Yacht club and was on the board of directors of the Santiago Tennis club, an elaborate structure.

Himel and his wife are looking forward to a meeting this summer with the boys' father. He is a member of the Lions International board and will be in Chicago. He was here once before for a Lions meeting and saw his boys and met the Himels for the first time.

As the attache had said in Santiago—the family wants the boys to live. They are living, as swimmers at Arlington Heights two pools can testify. (AF

Literal Lingo

Arlington Heights sandlotters evidently take their baseball lingo literally.

Some adept base-stealer absconded with all four bases from the northwest diamond of the Arlington high school athletic field June 14.

Busy Weekend for Banged Fenders in Arlington Hts.

Drivers banged into one another at a brisk clip on the streets of Arlington Heights over the weekend. Between Thursday and Sunday evenings there were seven accidents, of which two were caused by a motorist hitting a parked car.

But numerous as the bad or careless drivers may be, there were two tales of alert action by good drivers this week to report.

BECAUSE OF THE quick-thinking of two men, two chidren were saved from injury or worse. The two drivers won't get a medal but they should.

A red dress darted from the curb in front of Poole's used car lot on Northwest hwy. about 9:15 p.m. Friday. Kathleen Rieck, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rieck of Des Plaines, had broken away from her older brother, who was supposed to be watching her.

The tot darted from the north curb into the path of a westbound car. She was spotted immediately by oncoming driver Alfred R. Moberg, 35, of 269 Pleasant blvd., Palatine. He swerved from the outer lane to the inner lane, simultaneously slamming on his brakes.

The auto missed the girl and she was unhurt. A medical examination disclosed only a small bruise on her right hip, possibly caused by a tumble while playing elsewhere.

THE SECOND fortunate youngster was James Sider, 13, of 509 W. Euclid ave., who rode his bicycle into the path of a car late one afternoon last week. The motorist, druggist Joseph E. Lohr, 47, of 33 S. Kaspar, noticed the boy and stopped his car near the intersection of Walnut and Euclid. The bicycle struck the right side of the auto but both car and boy were unhurt.

Locations of the seven weekend accidents in which none were injured were Yale and Sigwalt, Northwest hwy. and State (2), Douglas and Miner, Miner and State and Kensington and Northwest hwy.

POLICE ALSO handled three cases of vandalism to costly plate glass windows and construction equipment. Three merchants in the S. Dunton st. business block, a shoe repairman, cleaning shop and a barber, all had their front windows cut by a glass cutter, they told police Thursday.

The following day a contractor, Fred Stahelin of Lombard, reported that clay had been thrown in the crankcase of a tractor and three tires of a truck slashed while the vehicles were parked in the Hasbrook subdivision lot along Palatine rd.

A north side resident, William R. McArthur, 1011 N. Vail, found the picture window of his home had been punctured by a pellet from an air rife when he returned home at 5 p.m. Friday. (AF

Arlington Church To Receive New Members Sunday

New members will be received into the congregation of Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, Sunday, June 22, at the 11 o'clock worship service. Persons to be received into membership are to meet at the parsonage, 944 N. Kaspar st., Thursday, June 19, at 8 p.m.

Couples club of Our Saviours will meet Saturday, June 21, 8 p.m., at Dryden school, Dryden and Rockwell sts. A "Monte Carlo" type party is the planned entertainment for the evening. Reservations are requested by the committee: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Machacek, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Water Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snodgrass. (A

No More Fire Sirens at Night

Arlington Heights residents won't be losing any sleep because of fire sirens any more.

A unique telephone system has eliminated the use of the noisy communique between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. It will continue to ring during the day, however.

Under the new plan, a phone will ring in the police station when a fire is reported. After receiving the report, an officer would remove a master phone which would set some 30 others ringing simultaneously in homes or business places of volunteer firemen.

ALTHOUGH THE officer can't converse with the various firemen, he will repeat the message over and over until he is certain that all have been notified. Firemen's phones would ring until picked up or until the master phone has been hung up.

Program, which is set up through the cooperation of Illinois Bell, has been in effect 2 weeks, but there has been no night fire to report as yet.

New system is expected to increase attendance of firemen at calls. Formerly the department averaged 15-18 men at a night call and eight in the daytime. Nearly 100 per cent attendance is predicted at night under the new plan.

Both the siren and the phone system will be in operation during the day.

FIREMEN received only one call last week. They were summoned to 626 N. Dryden due to an over-heated stove. No damage was done.

Assistant chief Ralph Meyer, regular fireman Ray Stark, and volunteers Mel Laseke and Roy Winkelman recently returned from a 4-day Illinois Fire college held at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, June 9-12.

Some 823 firemen from all over the state attended the school, which is sponsored by the Illinois Firemen's association and State Fire Marshal.

The Arlington "students" participated in demonstration, as well as attending classes in command work, rescue work, apparatus driving, and fire streams. (AF

Lutherans Speed Work On Church

Construction on the new Our Saviour's Lutheran church at Olive st. and State rd. in Arlington Heights is on schedule.

At present, 80 per cent of the brick work has been completed, the laminated beams and trusses have been erected, carpenters have started on the roofs, all the rough plumbing has been installed and the electricians have put in most of their piping and conduit as well as some of the control boxes.

The boiler has been placed in the basement. A well has been drilled and is furnishing clear water at the rate of 30 gallons a minute from a depth of 170 feet.

Scheduled occupancy date for the new United Lutheran church is October. (A Power Mower Accidents Become 'Common-Place'

The power lawn mower hadn't actually come into vogue in 1944, so an accident involving one was unusual enough to make news.

One of the first power mower accidents of record involved an Army private who came home late in World War II to recuperate from wounds received in three invasions and was wounded by—a spoon!

THE SPOON, hurled by a power lawn mower in his front lawn, penetrated the soldier's leg and had to be removed by an operation.

Since then power lawn mowers have increased in popularity. The number of mower mishaps has increased in direct proportion.

While no national figures are available on the power mower accident problem, the National Safety Council said a study in Georgia showed that:

1. ONE INJURY in seven results in some permanent disability.
2. Toes and feet are most often injured.
3. Seven out of 10 persons injured in mower mishaps come in direct contact with the mower. The other three are hurt by objects thrown by the mower.

WHILE THE FIRST power mower mishap may have been unusual enough to be news, such accidents today are anything but out-of-the-ordinary.

In fact, almost every day newspapers carry accounts of mower accidents, among them such serious ones as these:

A Florida woman was killed by a blade that sailed 50 feet from a power mower and through a window pane before striking her.

A LITTLE GIRL was killed when her jugular vein was severed by a piece of metal hurled by a power mower.

But, according to the National Safety Council, power lawn mowers are no more dangerous than any other gadget used around the yard—if a few basic rules are observed. For example:

1. Unless you have good artificial light, mow only during daylight.

2. DON'T USE AN electric mower when the grass is wet and slippery.
3. Never allow youngsters or pets near a power mower. Nor should youngsters be allowed to operate one.
4. When starting the engine, stand with your feet planted in a safe spot. Always be sure of your footing and balance—especially when mowing on an incline. On hills and banks, cut sideways, not up and down.

5. DON'T REFUEL the mower while it's running or still hot from use. Always refuel out of doors. Don't forget, either, to store the gasoline in an approved container.
6. Shut off the mower before moving it from one level to another, or when you want to work on its underside. Never leave the mower unattended while it's running.
7. Make sure the area to be mowed is free of sticks, stones, wire or other obstacles.
8. KNOW HOW to disengage the clutch and stop the engine quickly.

"Power lawn mowers are a great time-saver—as any man of the house will tell you," the Council says. "But they brought with them new hazards users aren't fully equipped to guard against.

"Only if manufacturers and users cooperate can power lawn mower accidents be prevented."

Nursing Home Opened In Wood Dale Residence

A pleasant two-story home in a Wood Dale wooded area recently opened as the nursing home operated by Dr. Werner K. Bush and his wife, Torbjorg.

Dr. Bush, who now conducts a general practice at 242 E. Irving Park rd., Wood Dale, graduated from Berlin university and medical school in 1945, but when he came to this country 6 years ago he found that U. S. medical regulations did not recognize his European interning.

HE HAS THUS HAD to intern at DuPage Memorial hospital, Elmhurst. Married less than a year, the young couple are operating the nursing home together. Mrs. Bush is a registered nurse who formerly worked at a Chicago tuberculosis sanitarium.

Dr. Bush says that the home at 140 S. Hemlock ave., planned to accomodate at least 10 persons, is dedicated to convalescence for people who need constant nursing care. There are only 2 or 3 persons per room with drapes providing privacy for each bed.

"Nursing homes are valued by doctors," says Dr. Bush, "in that they are able to provide patients, mainly elderly people, with medical and nursing needs in a more homelike atmosphere. Mrs. Bush is on duty at the home 24 hours a day." (BB

Cars Run Into Trains Third Of the Time

Most people probably assume the train usually hits the car in highway-railroad crossing accidents.

Not necessarily so. "A third of the time," says the National Safety Council, "it's just the reverse—the car strikes the train."

The Council says the car does the hitting in half the nighttime accidents and in about 1 out of 5 daytime car-train accidents. About 1,300 persons are killed annually in grade crossing motor vehicle accidents.

The reasons? Misjudged speed, starting up too soon after a train has passed without checking for trains from the opposite direction, ignored warning signals, drinking and driving, speeding, and familiarity with frequent used crossings, according to the Council. Motorists can prevent car-train accidents, it says, if they will:

1. Approach highway-rail intersections with their vehicle under complete control, heed the round advance warning sign and be prepared to stop if necessary.
2. Use extra precaution if they can't see far down the tracks. Be sure the way is clear before crossing the tracks.
3. Obey traffic rules, and caution others to do the same.
4. Observe crossing signs, signals and markings.

Preventing highway-rail traffic accidents is, in the opinion of Jack C. Trimble, secretary of the Council's Highway - Railroad Crossing Committee, "the job of traffic officials, the railroads and the public."

"But it isn't a fifty-fifty proposition," he says. "The driver must bear the biggest burden. He can stop quicker or swerve to avoid an accident, while a train can't. His is the more maneuverable vehicle.

"It's a needless tragedy for motorists to run into the side of or in front of trains.

"It is almost invariably the motorist's fault. It is his responsibility to be alert for signs, to watch his speed, and to stop if necessary."

O'Hare Field CAA Control Tower Ready for Commercial Jet Traffic

Monday the Civil Aeronautics Administration will celebrate its 20th year of providing safe air traffic control to this nation's civil and military aircraft.

In this area, the service is provided by the air traffic control tower located at O'Hare Field.

In 1946, the Civil Aeronautics Administration, under the U.S. Department of Commerce, established a control tower to assume jurisdiction of air traffic operating to and from O'Hare Field. The tower was relocated to a seven-story building located in the new terminal area in 1955.

The new structure houses the control tower cab, an instrument flight room equipped with the latest surveillance radar, as well as administrative offices and personnel necessary to maintain the complex radio and electronic equipment.

O'Hare tower's complement of 30 airways operations specialists is responsible for 24-hour-a-day safety of all civil and military aircraft operating into and out of this gigantic 6,000 acre airport—one of the world's largest—11 times the size of Chicago Midway Airport.

O'Hare tower personnel not only control all aircraft movements on O'Hare and Ravenswood Airports, but also all instrument (IFR) air traffic into and out of Glenview, Pal-Waukee and Sky Harbor airports. These Airways operations specialists, through direct radio communication, are responsible for the safety of aircraft in flight while operating in the 600 square miles of airspace encompassing O'Hare Field.

Through the control of military jet aircraft for the past eight years, the O'Hare Tower specialists have gained valuable experience for the coming jet passenger age. Much knowledge has been gained on jet capabilities and operating characteristics.

This fall, the CAA control tower will be able to utilize this wealth of experience when the first jet passenger planes begin to operate to and from O'Hare Field. These multi-million dollar jet-powered planes, with over a hundred passengers aboard, will be guided skillfully and safely by well-experienced air traffic controllers in the O'Hare Control Tower.

The Civil aeronautics Administration's Control Tower at O'Hare Field is ready for the commercial jet age! (BB

Hasbrook Home Is Award Winner

Hasbrook Construction co. of Arlington Heights, was announced today as winning Chicagoland building firm in American Home magazine's annual "Best Home for the Money" contest.

The home building firm was one of three in Illinois selected from over a hundred state entries to receive the magazine's award for homes of "extraordinary dollar value." The two other state winners are located in Hamilton and Rochelle.

ACCORDING TO Albert E. Riley, Hasbrook president, presentation of the award will be made personally by Jean Austin, president and publisher of American Home at a luncheon at the Palmer House on June 23. The magazine will feature the Hasbrook home in its July issue.

"The contest is carried on in 18 states where approximately 80 per cent of the nation's home building takes place," Riley said.

A panel of housing and architectural experts select three winners in each state, based on the most value for the money regardless of price category.

Riley quoted the July issue of the magazine as saying about the home:

"This simple, compact and very convenient house is a good example of real professional building. It's geared exactly to the needs of the average family that wants an efficient, comfortable home with no flim-flam."

TWO FULL PAGES will be devoted to the Hasbrook home with complete descriptions and sketches. Illinois readers of the magazine are invited to select the best house of the three on a ballot included in the issue.

Ballots are forwarded to American Home magazine for tallying. The Illinois winner will again be featured in a later issue. Prizes up to $250 are offered to readers sending in the best description.

Hasbrook's homes are priced between $18,950 and $19,450. They feature three bedrooms, living and dining room, two full baths, attached garage, landscaping and built-in oven and range.

The 532-home subdivision is located at the north end of Arlington Heights on Palatine rd., ½ mile west of State rd. (BB

New Irish Oatmeal Bread Introduced in Arlington

A midwestern housewife who first tasted homemade Irish oatmeal bread on a visit to Dublin three years ago and couldn't forget its hearty, nutty flavor is introducing the old country loaf at the Jewel food stores in Arlington Heights at 11 Dunton st. and 24 N. Dryden.

Mrs. Catherine Clark, a Wisconsin homemaker who went into the bread business to bring back the old-fashioned home style of baking, has imported a cargo of real Irish groats direct from County Drouth in Eire through the route of the new St. Lawrence Seaway and is now baking authentic Irish oatmeal bread at her Brownberry Ovens at Oconomowoc, Wis. Brought fresh daily to the Jewel stores, the Erin treat is now available off neighborhood grocery shelves.

THIS MARKS the first time that Irish oats, used in making the traditional Gaelic porridge, is being used for breadmaking in the United States, though the Celtic groats have been exported for over a century and have been considered a genuine treat by gourmets.

The first cargo of Irish oats was brought into Chicago at Navy Pier on the S.S. Fair Head from Belfast after navigating the Atlantic and the Great Lakes. Mrs. Clark was on hand with Irish consul Sean Ronan to meet the shipment.

"Irish oatmeal has a rugged, hearty flavor you never find in American breads," says Mrs. Clark. "Dubliners told me it gets its plump hearty flavor from the humid climate and the rich soil of Erin. At any rate they've been thriving on it for 1500 years and boast one of the sturdiest races in the world."

THE NEW RICH oatmeal bread, appropriately packaged in an oatmeal wrapper with the familiar Brownberry colonial maid, is the first in a new line of Heritage breads Mrs. Clark is introducing. Since all Americans are descended from European stock, she feels that they enjoy continental-styled baking whether it's French or Italian bread, Vienna rolls or Swedish rye. In her Heritage line she hopes to make available on grocery shelves a complete line of European bread products.

Mrs. Clark is spending the coming summer in Europe visiting bakeries in 10 different countries to study their baking methods and hopes to learn enough of their techniques to produce their breads in her Brownberry Ovens. She started in the business 12 years ago, when she began baking old-fashioned country-style bread just as she had at home for years. Mother of two daughters, Mrs. Clark has built a million-dollar business in the midwest while still a homemaker. (BB

A. Only if she is a hostess, but not otherwise — unless the man is an important personage or very elderly.

Savings Mean More Jobs

Growth of savings and loan associations in Illinois in the next ten years will create 5,000 new jobs, according to John P. Domeier, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan league.

"While the manpower requirements of each association may differ, we need an average of one employee for each million dollars of assets," Domeier said.

TOTAL RESOURCES of the state's 585 savings and loan associations have been growing at the rate of half a billion dollars a year for the past four years, and should amount to $5 billion by the end of 1958. The year-end total will be twice the combined resources of Illinois associations just five years ago, and at the same rate of growth will double again in 10 years, predicted the league president, who is also president and chairman of the board of Oak Park Federal Savings and Loan association, and is chairman of the Federal Home Loan bank.

Asset growth of $5 billion will provide 5,000 new jobs, in addition to vacancies created through normal attrition, Domeier predicted, adding that "opportunities and rewards accruing to those who enter the business today are great, and the responsibilities of management for proper selection and training were never greater."

"DURING THE PAST four years we have had alternate periods of hard and easy money," Domeier said, "but the net flow of savings into our Illinois associations has continued at a level above $400 million annually."

Despite the recent decline in business activity and employment in some areas of the state, the growth of new savings in Illinois associations is at a record pace, Domeier said. Net savings increased during the first quarter of 1958 by $161,039,000. First quarter gains a year ago amounted to $136 million, and in the previous record high first quarter of 1956 totaled $140 million.

HOME FINANCING activities of Illinois associations continued at a high level despite a first quarter drop in loans for home construction, Domeier said. And total loans in 1958 should exceed $1 billion for the fourth consecutive year. Nearly half the funds to be loaned by Illinois associations this year will be derived from increased savings, and the remainder will come from repayments of loans by over half a million borrowing home owners.

Domeier pointed out that savings and loan associations in Illinois are now furnishing 60 per cent of all home financing funds and are making 55 per cent of all home loans recorded in the state.

Real Estate Tax Protest Deadline Set

Deadline for protests over real estate tax valuations by property owners in Barrington, Hanover, Palatine, Maine, and Lyons townships is June 26.

The county board of tax appeals will take complaints from these townships between now and June 26 in room 337 of the county building, 118 N. Clark, Chicago. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

It's too late to complain about tax bills received this year. But now is the time and the only time it'll do much good to complain about tax bills you'll get next year.

COMPLAINTS ARE taken not on the amount of the tax bill but on the valuation the county puts on your property for tax purposes. The tax rate multiplied by the valuation placed on your property determines the tax bill.

Those filing complaints will be given a hearing date when they must return and attempt to prove they're right, and the tax man is wrong. (B8

Certificate First Aid Instructors

Two Northbrook residents were among those certificated as Red Cross First Aid instructors following completion of a class at Glenbrook adult evening school, Roy D. Day, volunteer chairman of First Aid for the Chicago Red Cross chapter, announces.

The two Northbrookites are: Mrs. Jayne C. Gibson, 2110 Center, and Mrs. Marilyn J. Sientsema, 2215 Oak.

The purpose of this instructor course, Day stated, is to acquaint students with the newest techniques which appear in the revised Red Cross First Aid manual, and to prepare them to teach Red Cross First Aid to others.

INCLUDED IN THE course are such new techniques as the back pressure arm lift method of artificial respiration for infants.

Another new method learned is moving injured persons by pulling along the long axis of the body, instead of rolling or pulling the body laterally. Emergencies such as heart attacks, apoplexy, fainting, epileptic convulsions, unconsciousness, and foreign bodies in the eye and air passages are also covered in the course.

DURING A MILITARY REVIEW at Northwestern Military and Naval academy, Lake Geneva, Wis., Major James M. Hadley, PMST, presented the Department of Army superior junior cadet award to Cadet Private First Class Thomas W. Busse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert W. Busse, 614 Edgewood lane, Mount Prospect.

Burgess Meredith Stars In Comedy at Playhouse

The remarkable Burgess Meredith, star of a hundred roles on Broadway and in Hollywood, opens the Edgewater Beach Playhouse season June 23 with the uproarious comedy of 1890, "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker." The play stays two weeks only, through July 5.

Mr. Pennypacker is remarkable in many ways, including his two separate families of 17 children in two cities. Meredith created the hit role in New York for the Producers Theater. New York critics gave rave notices to the warm-hearted, old-fashioned comedy and compared it with "Life With Father" and "You Can't Take It With You."

JOHN McGIVER co-stars as Dr. Fifield, with Iris Whitney as the "wronged" Ma Pennypacker. Others in the large cast are Wayne Wilson, Juleen Compton, Bridget McGiver (daughter of the co-star), Barry Delafiroa, Tom Wheatley and Jata Roland.

The ebullient Walter Slezak stars in the comedy, "The Little Hut," at the Playhouse July 7-19. Mr. Slezak plays the role taken by Robert Morley in London in a Edgewater, it was announced by Producer Noel Behn, formerly of Glencoe.

Other stars and plays in the Edgewater all-star schedule are Melvyn Douglas in "Strange Partners," a Theater Guild production which has its World Premiere at the Edgewater, July 21-Aug. 2; Ann Sheridan in her stage debut in "Kind Sir," the Norman Krasna comedy, Aug. 4-16; and comedian Menasha Skulnik in "Uncle Willie," Aug. 18-31.

A NEW TREAT for theatergoers is the First Nighter series, subscription series to the five opening nights, with the same seats for each performance, and members of the audience invited to a post-theater get-together to meet the stars and the cast. First Nighter admissions are available at the box office—open daily 12-6—or by mail to Edgewater Beach Playhouse, Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago.

The tent theater Playhouse, on the beachwalk of the Edgewater, is cooled by lake breezes and is called the most beautiful summer theater in America. Curtain times are 8:30 Monday through Friday, 7:00 and 10:00 Saturdays, and 7:00 on Sundays. Prices are $3.50-$2.25 Sunday through Thursday, $3.95-$2.75 Friday and Saturday. (Bill

The Mailman's Corner

Root of Trouble Has Many Forms

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Trouble is one of the easiest things there is to find. You can get into trouble by saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. You can get into trouble by being in the wrong place at the wrong time. You can even get into trouble being at the right place at the wrong time.

MUCH OF OUR trouble is caused by our own immaturity or maladjustment. Trouble springs from envy, fear, hatred, greed—it travels the gamut of the human emotions. Trouble is born of poor judgment. Young people buy too much and are up to their necks in debt before they know it. Storekeepers, real estate men, car salesmen take advantage of their inexperience and poor judgment, and really load them down with merchandise at one dollar down and a dollar a week.

Mistakes in judgment are not confined to young folks. Some people never learn and poor judgment is not confined to mistakes in business deals. The fellow of any age with an exaggerated opinion of himself often lands on the unemployed list when he oversteps his bounds—learns who is boss the hard way. Poor personality adjustment can cause more trouble than poor business judgment.

GIRLS GET INTO trouble when they are too beautiful or otherwise attractive; guys who think they've got all it takes often end up with nothing, unhappy and unloved.

You can get into trouble by being too good, or too bad. You can get into trouble for no reason at all; but the person who uses his spare moments to meditate on "what I would do if," can spare himself a lot of trouble by knowing the answer before an emergency arrives.

The man who evaluates himself and refuses to give way to selfish motivations; who seeks advice and knowledge from experts before taking any big step; and the fellow who does the best he can and makes up his mind to accept the outcome of his efforts or decisions; these fellows, chances are, will never get into any trouble that they can't handle.

Children's Play, Director Chosen

Village Theatre, Inc., has announced its children's play to be presented this fall.

"Rumpelstiltskin," a famous classic among fairy tales, will be given on November 23 at the Miner Street Junior high school. Mrs. Harriet Smith will direct the play. She has an impressive history in working with children and with children's plays and was in charge of dramatics for the recreation program in Cleveland prior to her move to Arlington Heights.

The program included a children's play at the close of the season under her direction. She also directed "Grandmothers' Slyboots," a version of Little Red Riding Hood, for Village Theatre in 1955. She has played important character roles in two children's productions for Village Theatre, "Cinderella" in 1954 and "Mr. Popper's Penguins" in 1956.

"RUMPELSTILTSKIN" will be the second production of Village Theatre, Inc. for the 1958-59 season. Others will include "Witness For The Prosecution," "Holiday For Lovers" and "Separate Tables." Patron seats for the season are still available for interested theater lovers. The cost is $3.50 per person for the year, representing a savings of $1.35. All seats are reserved and patrons have the opportunity to indicate before each performance their preference of dates and seats before the tickets go on general sale.

Anyone interested in purchasing patron tickets may call Virginia Hula at Clearbrook 5-3495 or write her at 114 W. Fremont street, Arlington Heights.

Sanitary District Board Reslated

The reorganization of the board of trustees of the Metropolitan sanitary district, made necessary by the death June 3 of President Anthony A. Olis, has been completed.

The nine man board elected as its president the former vice-president, William F. Patterson, 49, of 6613 N. Whipple st., Chicago, an attorney and former marine of World War II; and Trustee William S. Nordburg of 489 Sunset road, Winnetka, an advertising executive, was elected vice-president. Both are Republicans and assumed their new duties June 12.

Gov. Stratton appointed Roger L. Severns, Chicago attorney, to fill the board vacancy caused by Olis' death. He will also be a candidate for election in November along with Republican Trustees J. B. Martin and Francis T. Delaney.

THREE TRUSTEES are elected every two years for six year terms. At present the board consists of six Republicans and three Democrats. Since three Republican posts are at stake in the November election, control of the board will be at issue.

Vice President Nordburg, first elected trustee in 1946 and re-elected in 1950 and 1956, is co-founder, vice-president and director of the Evanston Federal Savings and Loan association and president of the North Shore Sunday Evening club. (B8

Afternoon Of Harmony June 22

Strains of "Coney Island Babe," "Aura Lee," and many other old time songs will ring through Maine Township high school's auditorium Jnue 22 at the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America stages an afternoon of harmony.

Songs will be sung by four men's choruses and five quartets, which will be gathered to determine the best singing barber shop harmony chorus in the Chicago northwest suburban area.

Arlington Heights will be represented at this contest by the "Arlingtones," who are contenders for top honors this year. Other choruses in competition are Skokie Valley, present champion; Pioneer of Chicago, past champions; and Town and Country of Des Plaines.

EACH CHORUS will be judged for harmony accuracy, balance and blend, voice expression, arrangement, and stage presence.

Program will be rounded out by the singing of five quartets of local and national fame. These quartets are the Barber-Q-Four, Mid-States Four, Versitones, Four Renegades, and the Chicagoans.

- 1908—Wheeling girls go elsewhere for Leap Year dates
- 90 years not too old for Palatine farmer to pull weeds
- Bucket Brigate saves Itasca water tower
- Maud throws car into ditch

Wheeling—Prof. and Mrs. Holt have decided to remain with us another year.

North Northfield—Some of our Northfield girls are quite angry that the Wheeling girls are taking advantage of Leap Year by calling on some of the young men of Northfield.

Love thy neighbor as thyself is the motto of some of our Northfield Christians while in church, but in their every day life it is hate them as much as possible. Don't give any one an invitation to your services, picnics, etc. unless you really mean it, for you would not care to attend a meeting yourself, if you were not welcome.

Mt. Prospect—Hurrah for the grand Picnic and political rally in Schnell's Maple Grove, June 21, afternoon and evening. Good Music. Admission to Pavilion 50 cents. Refreshments on grounds.

Buffalo Grove—Bishop Muldoon has an appointment to confirm between 60 and 70 young people at St. Mary's Catholic church, July 1.

Camp McDonald—Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krambeer are the happy parents of a 10-lb. boy born May 29.

Wheeling Concordia band met with Emil Gosh Sunday night. John Gerken joined the band as a new member.

The Palatine Military Band has been engaged to play at Glencoe, the Fourth. Too bad, Palatine will not have any celebration.

The Palatine Band boys give their annual picnic Sunday afternoon and evening in Plum Grove. The boys are making every effort to give their patrons a good time. Excellent Chicago music has been engaged and only 50 cents is charged for dancing. The boys depend upon the proceeds of their annual picnic to defray some of the necessary expenses in maintaining a band of their own.

A Hackbarth & Co. have put a new milk wagon on the market that is a dandy. It has some new features that ought to make a strong demand for it. With the addition they recently added to their shop, they have the opportunity to handle work of this kind and this wagon, which is entirely of their own idea is sure to prove a success.

Itasca had a little excitement Monday when sparks from a passing freight locomotive set fire to the roof of the water tank. The bucket brigade soon extinguished the blaze. The mill tower and porch surrounding the tank was kept from burning until the roof fell into the water. The question is again brought to our notice, Do we need fire protection? This is a question our city fathers should give grave consideration.

The editor met Mrs. John Bergman aged 88 years, on the road Tuesday evening returning from the field where herself and husband aged 90 years (both hale and hearty) had been pulling mustard and Canada thistles. She said outdoor work was what keeps them alive and well.

Bensenville—A. W. Franzen and Emma Frendenberg, of Milwaukee, were united in marriage June 17. The happy couple will start their home in H. F. Hornbostel's new house on Lincoln ave.

Dorthurbumpville is improving a little. They have had their annual meeting and got their streets named. Their report will be in this paper next week.

Arlington Heights is gradually filling up the canal and reclaiming the former Dunton Boulevard, so it is a passable highway; but we caution automobiles to steer clear of these ruts and mud holes unless they want to get shook up.

Hans Heinrich Engelking was born in Germany in 1831 and came to America in 1852. He married Miss Sophie Katz in 1859 who bore him three sons and two daughters. His first wife died in 1896. He married his second wife, Mrs. Bertha Ehard, a widow with two sons and two daughters in 1897. She made him a happy home till he died June 11, aged 76 years.

Chas. S. Paddock, "the gas man" had the misfortune at Palatine Tuesday to step on a loose plank in a sidewalk, which rolled and gave him a bad fall, tearing the ligaments of his right ankle. Dr. Starck says he must not attempt to step on that foot for two weeks. This is a heavy loss of wages besides the pain.

(Editor's note: Charley got married yesterday.)

Mr. Charles S. Paddock and Miss Geneva Gay Cleaveland were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cleaveland in Norwood Park, Chicago, at 2 p.m., Saturday, June 20, 1903. The parlors were beautifully decorated in green and white and a profusion of flowers. Miss Edith Sjosten presided at the piano and rendered Lohengrin's wedding march.

The bride, accompanied by Miss Helen Benson, maid of honor, passed through the parlors and met the groom supported by his brother Stuart, under a bower of ferns with a large white wedding bell, as a center-piece.

Rev. James T. Ford of Arlington Heights, conducted the impressive ring ceremony and tied the nuptial knot firmly to the entire satisfaction of all. It was a pretty home wedding, only near relatives being present.

After congratulations and refreshments, the happy couple outwitted their festive friends and escaped by carriage to Oak Park, then on to their honeymoon trip, after which they came to Arlington Heights Monday night and took possession of their furnished rooms in Miss Beaumont's elegant "Honeymoon Flats" on Dunton st., opposite the Presbyterian church, where they were soon settled and pleased to receive their friends.

Usually anything that can walk or is on wheels, manages to keep out of Maud's way, but a stranger from the city not being used to country ways the meaning of an engine's whistle or the purpose of a sign post disputed the right of way with the P. L. Z. & W. limited Saturday afternoon. The engine had the right-of-way and kept it. The motor and its five occupants were neatly piled up in the ditch and the train crew pulled them out of the closed-car through the door which rested where the roof should have been.

Maud has been a faithful old soul and seldom travels faster than a walk. She was approaching the Baldwin crossing at her usual speed when suddenly a coupe car occupied by five people appeared on the crossing, hesitated an instant and Bang! The car was lying on its side. Prompt attention was given the occupants but examination failed to disclose any serious injuries.

Palatine—H. S. Alumni has decided to do away with the annual banquet, but have a fine program and reunion, thus assisting the government in Hooverizing.

Changeable weather this year. It was oppressively hot Sunday—90 to 100 in the shade; then within 12 hours the temperature dropped to 6 5degrees and one needed an overcoat. What do all these extremes portend?

Arlington Heights—Mr. and Mrs. En. N. Berbecker arrived home from a business and pleasure trip to New York taking in the commencement exercises of Wellesley College where their daughter Miss Margery graduated with honors.

W. T. Allison has completed his second year at the Chicago College of Osteopathy and is now enjoying two weeks vacation. He has been sworn into the Navy and is awaiting his call to attend Ensigns School.

Herman Meyer, eldest son of Mrs. Dina Meyer, was born 1878 in Addison township. He came with his parents to Wheeling township at the age of one. In 1902 he went to Oak Park to seek work and has made his home there since. In 1907 he was united in marriage with Miss Julia Thompson. He died of anemia June 8.

Elk Grove School No. 56 gave its graduation exercises June 12. Miss Lane and her pupils had prepared a nice program. Five pupils, Ed. Hahne, Della Busse, Geo. Goebert, Willie Heimsoth and Henry Helwig graduated from the eighth grade.

The guesses made a few months ago in reference to the probable enrollment in the Arlington Heights high school next September were not too high. If anything they were too low. The enrollment when school closed last week was 218. The expected enrollment next September will be not less than 349, probably more.

Miss Edna Blum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van Gorder and Mr. Clarence Scharringhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scharringhausen were married June 16 in St. John's church.

A new business enterprise is about to be established in Mt. Prospect. Wolff Bros., who purchased the old creamery buildings, are about to begin the operation of a coal yard and a high class filling station on this property.

"Topsy just growed" and so has the enrollment at Arlington Heights high school. The school building is bursting at the seams. The present building has only one steam boiler located about one foot under the wooden stage floor of the auditorium, which is too small to accommodate the pupils. The cafeteria is a temporary structure, much too small and without adequate heating. The gymnasium is smaller than a grade school gym. The superstructure of the whole original building is of wood. All of the ceiling members of the auditorium are built up of wood and the ceiling and walls have been replastered many times.

With simple ceremonies the remains of Lewis Helm, Wheeling township pioneer, were laid to rest in the Arlington Heights cemetery Saturday. Mr. Helm died June 6.

An old landmark, 312 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, is being removed. It is a sample of early building brick veneer with siding, the outer covering many years ago, owned and occupied by Squire Watson and family. It has housed many transient families. During the past 40 years plus, it has been the property of the Charles Taege family, as it adjoins their present residence, the space will give larger place for lawn.

a rare and unusual combination!

- Beautiful home on a hill— classic two-story frame, finest construction, 3 bedrooms, 3½ baths, 3 fireplaces.
- Views in all directions— better tranquilizers than all the medicines in the world.
- Landscaping and lawn complete— tended with loving care for 14 years.
- 100 Acres— rolling fields and hills, woods and brook.
- Trees— it took 10 generations to grow.
- Cattle and Horse Barn— the most beautiful in the area. Complete outbuildings.
- Your neighbors— some of the finest business executives of Chicago and their families.
- Location— Exclusive Bull Valley, McHenry County, Illinois — the beautiful, growing Northwest.

• If you are a city dweller, don't reply — you wouldn't appreciate the loveliness.

If you are a suburbanite and the community is crowding you and you want more land, more peace, more freedom, more fine friends (not looking in your window), more fun, horses, dogs, cattle, hunting, fishing, boating, golfing nearby and uncrowded — then you'll love it.

If you are a young executive with kids to raise and you want them to have their rightful heritage — to see the corn grow, the alfalfa wave, the sun in the sky and the clouds scud by — to have the clean wind in their faces — to grow strong and naturally and with an understanding of nature— to play carefree among good friends and good pets — then this is for you for it's one of the finest investments around Chicago.

If that's your situation and your star is rising and you want a wonderful place to entertain — then investigate. Financial advisors say now is the time to buy such property. It will go no way but up. This place — farmed on shares — pays all its expenses. It is cost-free living. And enough of this farm can be subdivided, if you wish, to pay for it — and without disturbing your privacy or reducing its productivity.

This place will carry a 50% mortgage.

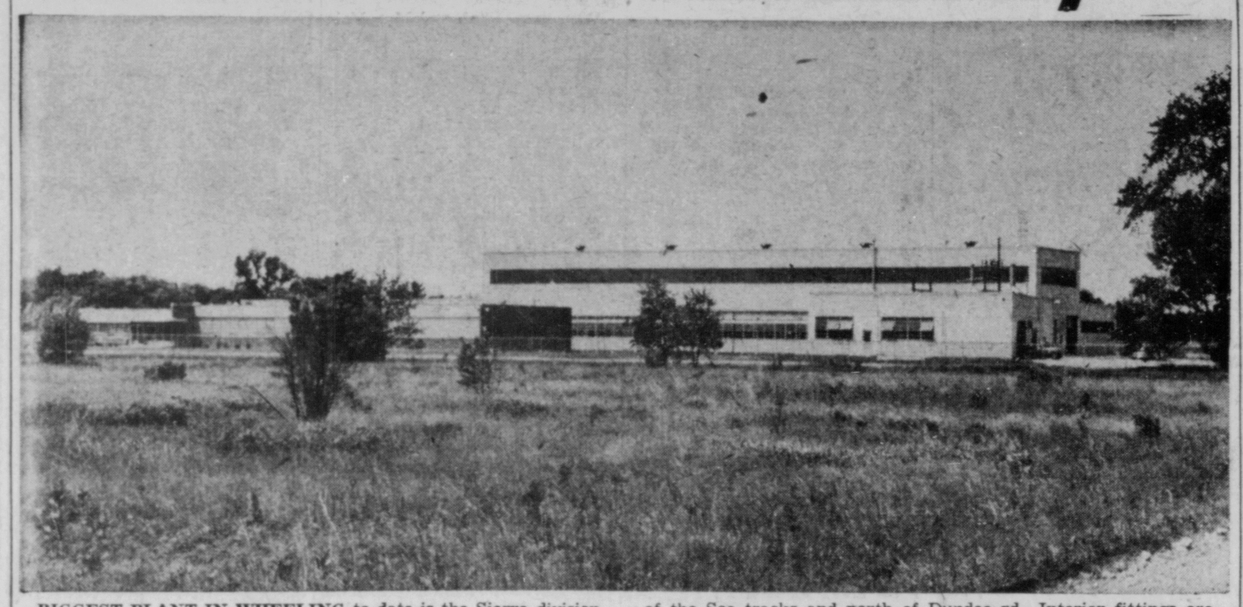
Wheeling Opens Doors To Suburban Industry



BIGGEST PLANT IN WHEELING to date is the Sierra division, American-Marietta company. With an employee capacity of 1,400, the plant and offices are located on a 42-acre site east of the Soo tracks and north of Dundee rd. Interior fittings are now being completed and tested. Representatives of the company have announced most products will be classified.

Wheeling last month opened its doors wider to northwest industrial expansion by extending its southern limits to include a choice 75-acre site south of Hintz rd. and east of Wheeling rd.

The property increases the industrially zoned area of the village to almost 300 acres, a strip reaching from the north to the south limits paralleling the St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railroad. Some 167 acres lie between Hintz and Dundee rds., North of Dundee are some 55 acres.

Part of a common pattern affecting many villages in the area, the big push to develop sites, or purchase them for future development, has come about in the past two years. Most of the plants now operating in Wheeling were completed sometime during 1956 or '57.

DEVELOPMENT of the recent- [illegible] acres will be handled by M. Marshall Seeburg and Sons, [illegible]pany plans to lease 9-acre sites to some seven or eight rated industrial companies on a "build-to-suit" basis.

A $7 million project, some 600,000 sq. ft. of a total of 3 million sq. ft. will be under roof in Seeburg Industrial park, leaving plenty of space for light and air, trees, and wide streets.

The biggest industrial tract, some 92 acres, was purchased by G. D. Searle and co., pharmaceuticals, Skokie, during the past year. To date, the company has announced no definite plans for developing the property, which lies east of the tracks and fronts, in part, on the south side of Dundee rd.

The biggest project to be developed to date is the Sierra plant, division of American Marietta company, Chicago, on a 42-acre site north of Dundee rd. and east of the Soo tracks. Now in the final stages of completion, the plant has an employee capacity of some 1,400. Products will be of the "classified" variety.

MOST OF THE remaining 55 acres zoned industrial north of Dundee is held by Sun Electric co., which to date has not announced any plans for use of the land.

Another division of American Marietta company, Guardite, occupies a 5-acre site south of Dundee rd. on Wheeling rd. Guardite does all engineering, fabricating, and erection for all equipment it manufactures, such as vacuum processing equipment for the tobacco industry, sterilizer, space cabinets for the armed services. The plant normally employs some 75 and has a maximum capacity of 150.

Under construction immediately south of Guardite is a new plant for International Iron Works, Inc., steel fabricators. The building, on one floor, will include 30,000 sq. ft. for plant facilities and 5,000 sq. ft. for office space. Approximately 100 workers will be employed.

Just south of the new iron works is Cerc Manufacturing co., which specializes in production precision machining. Food packaging and slicing machines are among the company's products. Some 50 are normally employed at the plant, located on a 2.11 acre site.

Next door to Cerc is Chicago Commutator, Inc., makers of commutators, perhaps not as glamorous an item as that put out by some other industries, but essential nevertheless. Occupying one and one-half acres, some 50 are normally employed in the 25,000 sq. ft. building.

NORTH OF GUARDITE on rocky Wheeling rd. are Evanger's Dog Food and Kennels and Meyer Coal and Material co., Inc.

The majority of industry now in Wheeling falls in the "heavy" classification. As for the Seeburg development, industry will probably lean toward the heavy, but will be "clean," according to A. R. McIntyre, Wheeling village president. The Searle operation will be "light" industry, said McIntyre.

The village now faces the problem of setting up a barrier, or "buffer zone," between heavy industry and residential sections. President McIntyre said light industry should face residential sections. For instance, the Searle property backs to part of the Meadowbrook subdivision.

West of Wheeling rd. and the industrial strip is the huge Dunhurst Heights subdivision.

A map of Wheeling shows the industrial area bisects the two heavily populated parts of the town, "old Wheeling" and Meadowbrook on the east, and Dunhurst Heights on the west, the direction in which the town is growing. (BB

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Only the Brave Give Parties

Dear Peg,

If you had told me that you were going to invite 24 children to a birthday party for your six-year-old, I'd have told you that you're nuts—I'm glad you didn't tell me that you'd done such a thing because I did just that! Two of those invited had measles so only 22 guests arrived Saturday afternoon to celebrate Bridget's birthday.

To tell you the truth, I don't know how the guest list grew to such proportions. We simply started with the children who had entertained Bridget during the year and before we knew it the list had swelled far beyond the limit I had started with. Somehow, I kept thinking, "Oh well, what's another 20 and 3? I found out.

Bridget's birthday started long before the party time. In fact, Bridget's birthday started at dawn on Saturday the 14th. Just one of her gifts was at the foot of her bed—to surprise her as soon as she awakened. This was the box from Nana. These wonderful boxes from Indianapolis are so much fun to open, as they always contain a gift for everyone.

This time there were shorts and blouses and summer pajamas for Megan and Bridget, a sport shirt for "Daddy" and a nightgown for "Mama," to say nothing of candy and a dollar for each of the children. After opening all these surprise packages and trying on the outfits, we brought out the other birthday presents from their hiding place under the bed.

After a pretty frightening rendition of "Happy Birthday to You," we handed Bridget her gifts and eagerly she set about the pleasant task of opening them. She enjoyed receiving the Revlon dolls, the new "high heels" and the "dress up hat"—but if the one thing she wanted most hadn't been there, she'd have been quite disappointed.

With a shout of delight she tore the paper off of her "silver-blue mink stole"—a real bargain at $1.98. Quickly she got into a pair of shorts and T-shirt, her "high heels," the "dress up" hat (a white straw picture hat swatched in red veiling) and the stole and strutted out the front door to do a little early morning promenading through the neighborhood. Nor was the jaunt in vain, several early morning risers called me to make sure they weren't seeing things.

At two o'clock the guests began to arrive. All clean, brushed and scrubbed, they really looked darling and I'm convinced that what a child is wearing has a great deal to do with the way he'll act—they were all on their party behaviors. We dropped clothespins into a milk bottle, pinned tails all around the donkey and carried beans across the room on a knife for prizes.

Everything was going along so well; Patrick and Joseph were napping and all the guests and the hostess were behaving, then I hit the snag.

While Bridget opened presents I went to the kitchen to prepare the refreshments. Horrified, I was unable to find the sack with the paper plates and favors for the table. So, I scurried to get together 22 plates of varying sizes and shapes.

When Bridget finished gift opening, I seated everyone—some at tables and others on the floor. But, did you every try to put ice cream and cake on 22 plates while 22 kiddies sat by waiting hungrily? I was in luck, however, as Bob arrived on the scene just after I started and between the two of us serving was completed fairly quickly. Wouldn't you know I found the paper plates after all were served, but I was happy to have the little American flags to give each guest as a favor (since Bridget's birthday is on Flag day). And so, if you were to tell me now that you'd invited 24 children to your six-year-old's birthday party, I wouldn't think that you were nuts, I'd think you were quite clever.

My love,
Patty

Summer Is Busy Season for Hopital Workers

STUFFED TOYS, aprons, Christmas items, clothing, doll wardrobes and articles for the boutique booth will be among the products of the summer workshops that are already meeting to make items for the Community Fair in October. The fair, sponsored by the Northwest Community hospital auxiliary, will benefit the emergency room of the new hospital. Working on articles for the booths are Mrs. Elvin Foster, Mrs. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Paul Wannagat and Mrs. George Lawler, booth chairmen.

CLUB WOMEN usually become inactive during the summer months, but not so with the committees planning the Community Fair, a benefit for the Northwest Community hospital, to be held in October. The benefit is being sponsored by the hospital auxiliary and all proceeds will go toward the auxiliary's pledge to equip the emergency room of the new hospital. Mrs. Joseph Svoboda, Mrs. Myron Custin, Mrs. John Heintz and Mrs. Donald Knox are shown here discussing plans for the benefit.

Summer Bells Are Ringing

I have a ringing in my ears. For quite a little while I considered seeing a good ear doctor. I was absolutely sure that I had developed bells in my head. I have cancelled my appointment because I found that there are bells ringing. They are not in my head.

Telephone and door. I had forgotten just what happens when the mob goes on vacation. Time heals all wounds and certainly dulls the old memory. I honestly thought it would be so nice to have them home. Look at all the help I was going to have.

Granted that during the time they are up and/or around, they manage to shuffle through a couple of chores. But, the time they are up and/or around is so fleeting as to be almost non-existent. What usually brings them out of their lairs at the crack of 11 a.m. in that ringing I mentioned.

It almost always is the phone but sometimes the door. Whichever it is, it is not for me. I don't live here anymore. If any of what I used to think of as friends tried to get in touch with me, they would find it heavy going.

I thought I had it made by limiting the length of calls hoping against hope that I could sneak one of my own in there somewhere. What stymies me is apparently not the length of individual calls, it seems to be quantity. There are dear friends of mine, such as my husband, who have given up hope of hearing from me for the summer.

Father does manage to get a word over to me by the rather simple expedient of coming home for dinner. If we are lucky, we can huddle in a corner of the living room, but most often the kitchen, and find out how things are. Most often we are joined immediately by the females who appear to be curious about things, too.

I suppose I could start raising carrier pigeons for really important message work. But, I might have objections from recipients of notes from me. I have heard that pigeons aren't too tidy. Most of my friends are quite tidy. Oh well, I'll still be around in the fall and think what interesting chatter I'll have saved up—if I can remember how to use the phone.

Savory stuffed peppers make delicious company or family fare.

A favorite recipe for this flavorful dish has been shared with us by Mrs. Elmer Busse of 256 S. Rohlwing rd., Palatine.

Though it takes a while to prepare, the recipe makes a large amount, and if your family is small, the left-over stuffed peppers are just as good warmed over and served a few days later.

MRS. BUSSE DOES not parboil peppers, but stuffs fresh peppers with a mixture of ground beef, celery, onion, rice and seasonings.

She simmers them in a tasty tomato sauce, along with additional meat balls formed from the remainder of the meat mixture. These extra meat balls are nice for people who like the flavor of the meat and sauce, but do not care for green peppers.

The stuffed peppers may be prepared in advance and reheated just before serving.

Because they are hearty individual "meals in one," Mrs. Busse usually accompanies them with simply a crisp salad, rolls and dessert.

She finds that this dinner always makes a hit with menfolks, and is a special favorite of her husband.

ALONG WITH COOKING, Mrs. Busse enjoys gardening, indoors and out, and is a member of the Suburban St. Paulia Society.

She also teaches Sunday school, and is a member of the Womens Guild of Christ Lutheran church.

Stuffed Peppers

5 tablespoons margarine
5 tablespoons flour
1 46-ounce can tomato juice
1 can tomato paste
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon oregano (optional)

Mix in order listed and cook until the consistency of gravy. Set aside.

Cut tops off eight peppers, remove seeds, wash and drain.

Filling:

2½ pounds ground beef
5 stalks celery
1 large onion, diced
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper to taste
½ cup rice

Cook the rice 10 minutes, rinse and drain.

Mix all of the ingredients together and fill the peppers.

Form the remainder of the meat mixture into 2-inch meat balls and cook with the peppers.

Let simmer 2½ to 3 hours in the sauce. (Soc

The Way We See It

Area Applauds Liquor Controls

In the state of Illinois, boys under the age of 21 and girls under 18 may not legally purchase beer or other intoxicating drink.

To many juveniles and to some parents, this law seems unfair. But the community as a whole approves of the law. And, unpopular as the law is with many young people, the community must enforce the law until it is changed. We won't argue the wisdom of the law here. It is enough to say that any change is unlikely when the relationship between alcohol and death and mayhem on the highway is becoming more firmly fixed in the public's consciousness.

Between January and April there were four arrests of clerks in Arlington Heights on charges of liquor sales to minors. The sudden crackdown on liquor law enforcement took by surprise many villagers who never suspected "things like that went on here."

The vigorous police action in apprehending the offenders, both the purchasers and the sellers, is commendable. As of Tuesday evening, three had been brought to trial, two of whom were found guilty and fined and the third found not guilty.

But the enforcement of liquor laws does not end with a trial and a fine handed down by a judge. The fines are so nominal — $25 and $50 against the two sellers — that they might be treated as a cost of doing business.

To guarantee itself greater protection against a recurrence of the offenses, the village has empowered its liquor control commissioner to take separate disciplinary action against the violators. This responsibility is that of the village president. Since the adoption of the village manager form of government curtailed his powers, the office of liquor commissioner is one of his most important tasks.

According to the law on the books, the mayor holds a public hearing to consider what action he will take on each actual or alleged violation. He may hold the hearing before the court trial or after it. In other words, whether or not a judge finds a clerk or bartender guilty does not affect the mayor's finding.

The hearing is less formal than a trial but it has the same safeguards: both prosecution and defense have attorneys and witnesses and cross-examination of witnesses is permitted.

Such a hearing was held two weeks ago. Mayor Carlisle found all three clerks guilty although only one of them had stood trial. He had, in fact, been acquitted on the charge.

The results of the hearing were that all three stores had their licenses temporarily suspended for five days.

The mayor's decision to close down the stores for a short period of time sets a new pattern in the relation of the village government to its liquor dealers.

In contrast, you'll remember that in February, after the first illegal sale-to-minors case, Carlisle revoked the store's license outright. The revocation would have put the owner out of business permanently. Other dealers and many businessmen privately criticized the severity of the penalty.

The outcome of the case was that the state liquor commission, the final appeal body, reversed Carlisle and gave the dealer back his license. The mayor accomplished nothing by his first attempt at enforcing the law except to put some fat fees into lawyers' pockets.

Earlier in that same case the commissioner had demonstrated his inexperience and embarrassed himself by revoking the license before holding a public hearing, as required by state law.

The commissioner had now taken the advice of several persons with broad knowledge of the problem. The new method of dealing with law violators puts the liquor merchants on guard. Suspension hurts more than a light fine and the suspension periods can be expected to lengthen with repeated violations. Persistent offenders will be put out of business only after they have clearly demonstrated their light regard for the law.

At one trial last week an assistant State's Attorney reminded a dealer that he is in "a tough business."

After stubbing his toe at the start, Mayor Carlisle has shown the village his enforcement of the law will be just that — fair but tough.

For this, parents, the community and residents of the entire northwest area can applaud him.

Letters to the Fence Post

Over-Taxed?

In the recent Wheeling village election, Mr. A. R. MacIntyre based his campaign on the premise that village government be run like a business. His second major point was improvement of the police force. He has set out to perform these tasks with great zeal. Unfortunately, to accomplish efficiency in goverment it takes more than zeal.

The Chicago Sun Times published an article on June 9 investigating the possibility of a metropolitan police force. This article contained facts on per capita police protection and costs of this protection per police officer. These figures were interesting to me as I was anxious to see how a business-like government compares with one run by politicians.

The article listed 28 suburban villages. The cost to maintain one policeman per year in Wheeling is $9,285. This was the third highest cost of the villages listed. The average cost for these villages is $6,715. It costs residents of Wheeling $2,570 more per policeman per year than the average suburbanite.

As any efficient person knows, higher costs are fine if they yield higher profits; in this case higher profits would be greater police protection. The police protection per citizen in Wheeling ranked 13th with one policeman for each 859 people. The average number of suburban residents per policeman is 853 people.

The facts presented in this article left me with the conclusion that for well over average costs, we are getting under-average protection.

Can we afford a business man?

Under-serviced,

Roselle Teens

In comparison with your constructive articles on the Spanish American problem and the community hospital need, your open letter to the owner of the new "Drive-in" in Roselle (if there is an owner) was almost entirely negative.

"Don't let kids hang out there — don't let them around the place after the 11 p.m. curfew — don't hesitate to let the kids know you're the boss — if necessary, call the police."

It's quite obvious that you're worried about the teenagers of Roselle and the surrounding areas who might cause trouble this summer.

What, in the way of recreation, constructive projects, or work, have the teen-agers of Roselle go to look forward to this summer? Or maybe no one cares as long as the kids don't inconvenience their parents and elders by getting into trouble.

Tom Stoesser

Loyalty, Cooperation

On behalf of all those who are interested in the Northwest Suburban Y.M.C.A., including the board of directors and the 800-plus people who worked on the campaign, I want to thank you and your newspapers for the very fine cooperation we have received in the development of the Y.M.C.A., and particularly in the recent fund-raising activity.

During the course of the recent campaign I heard many favorable comments about the cooperation of your newspapers, and I thought it might be of interest to pass the word along to you that the residents, generally, throughout the area were aware of the fine publicity which the "Y" received.

Preserve Building

Ever since your article a few weeks ago concerning the possiblity of building a new Arlington Heights village hall rather than alter the old, I have been asking people of various age groups their opinion. Everyone I talked with seems to feel that there is no problem to be considered since the alterations to present building would cost so little compared with the cost of a new building.

I, myself, having been born here 52 years ago, would like to see a few things stay put! The present village hall seems to me to be a fine structure, centrally located; not colonial, but who cares? I say make the necessary alterations and put another plaque on the building with the present village board members' names, stating that they saved the village thousands of dollars.

Palatine Parks

I am in full agreement with Mr. Paddock that we should do something about the downtown triangle in Palatine.

However, can the park board justify spending $45,000 for improving the business district? The downtown park would undoubtedly consist of a few trees and shrubs and a bench or two for weary shoppers. Instead, why not a southside park promised several years ago, providing recreational facilities for hundreds of Palatine youth.

The adjoining columns in last week's Palatine Enterprise carrying stories of Palatine teenagers in trouble again should certainly show the urgent need for added recreational facilities.

In the past, the park board has stated that as soon as funds were available a site would be purchased and improved for an additional park site for Palatine. I believe $45,000 would go a long way towards buying and improving a site. I feel this issue is of vital interest to the citizens of Palatine and everyone interested should express their opinion to the park board concerning this matter.

We have waited a little too long to worry about the beauty of our village as can be witnessed by the huge apartment buildings sandwiched between small single family dwellings.

So let us not be hurried into a decision on this important matter and later regret it as we so often have in the past.

The Editors Answer Builder DiMucci

Who's Real 'Sucker': Builder or Community?

Sal DiMucci is on the "sucker list." And he's peeved about it.

He spoke out recently in an interview published in a Des Plaines newspaper to defend builders and level a blast at builder critics, including the suburban press.

The Mount Prospect builder lamented the fact that he's looked upon as a "problem creator, a nemesis who thinks more of the monetary jingle in his pocket than the welfare of the community."

This isn't fair, he said, since "builders are as much interested in the well-being of their fellowmen as anybody else."

DiMucci said a builder of homes benefits the community merely by building homes — creating jobs, creating markets, bringing more people into an area.

For example, he said 540 new homes would mean 540 new subscriptions to the newspaper. "Newspapers want to be good samaritans — but with someone else's money. I would like to see a newspaper write an editorial in defense of the subdivider for a change."

PADDOCK Publications is happy to answer DiMucci's charge. First of all, there's a difference between the builder and the newspaper. A newspaper is not solely a money-making organization. It has, or should have, a leading role in creating the sort of community in which people take pride. A newspaper must represent, if you will, the aspirations of the best elements of the community. Paddock Publications believes that one of its major tasks is to strive for the common good of the community.

The local subdivider declared in his news story that he and other builders are the "biggest suckers in the world."

When a subdivider announces his intention to develop a particular area for homes, he complained in the article, he is looked on as a problem creator. Even before the ink on his home construction plans dry, a "suspicious community" knocks on his door and asks just how much land he intends to donate for a new school to accommodate the children his new subdivision will pour into the area.

THIS IS WHAT happened recently when DiMucci went before county zoners with plans for a $10 million development at McDonald and River rds. in Wheeling township.

DiMucci told the county he had made no provisions for school aid, although he was quoted in the newspaper article as saying he "intends to give them something."

Nearly eight months ago, DiMucci made a similar promise to school district 59, which did not protest his Elk Ridge Villa project on the basis of his written guarantee he would help the hard-pressed school district. The project was approved, and the school district has yet to hear from DiMucci about his promised aid.

This experience in Elk Grove is one reason why Wheeling and Feehanville are vigorously protesting the DiMucci project in Wheeling township.

Neither school district can cope unaided with the pupil influx from this development.

DiMUCCI WAS quoted as saying he should not be expected to aid schools any more than the druggist, the grocer, or the doctor should be. All will benefit from his project.

"A subdivision brings more people in need of services into an area. The builder of homes benefits the community in this way regardless of whether he donates land to the schools."

DiMucci, and dozens of other developers like him, suggest that the community should exult whenever a builder spews up 500 new houses on a rural tract because there's nothing to see in this besides new sales of labor, goods, and services.

Jobs open for an army of bulldozer operators, carpenters, plasterers, plumbers, electricians, well-diggers, bricklayers, truck drivers, foremen and day laborers.

Then come the new householders, followed by their needs. A shopping center and supermarket are hurriedly built, and into this pours another army of clerical and sales personnel, butchers, bakers, janitors, auto dealers, restauranteurs, waitresses, door-to-door salesmen, mail carriers, rookie cops, firemen, school teachers, medicine men of various degrees — the whole ruck and stew of civilization's auxiliaries.

THUS WITH EVERY new subdivision, jobs are born, money is earned, money is spent, and pretty soon everyone can afford a new TV set and this is DiMucci prosperity.

That such prosperity is entirely material, possibly temporary, and perhaps even illusory causes little concern to DiMucci. It's money, isn't it? Well, maybe it is and maybe it isn't. Does any subdivision householder really own the house he thinks he bought? Does he really own the things he uses?

Too frequently, the subdivider is a man who figures how many houses he can possibly cram onto a piece of land and have the zoning board hold still for it. Then he whistles up the bulldozers to knock down all the trees, bat the lumps off the terrain, and level the ensuing desolation. Then up go the houses, one after another, and all pretty much alike.

UNTIL A subdivision becomes something more than just a lot of houses, it cannot be called a community. A house is not necessarily a home. A home means security. And a family has no security unless its basic needs are being met by adequate schools, hospitals, churches, welfare agencies, and shops. Civilized people also require a certain pleasantness in their surroundings such as parks, playgrounds, and landscaping.

DiMucci's Forest View Garden plans, for example, have not taken into consideration industrial areas, fire protection, park district, or school assistance.

School problems are foremost in our minds here. Increases of hundreds of pupils in local classrooms cannot be absorbed by the school financial system. Since new home owners often can't pay educational taxes until a year after arrival, schools must educate some children for an entire year or more before being reimbursed.

Multiply this cost of educating one child by the number of new pupils pouring into our schools and you may realize the terrific strain being brought to bear on the suburban educational system.

HELP MUST BE had from somewhere. Where? Too often, builders ignore these community needs and feel it sufficient to provide only a roof and four walls. We feel that those who create communities obligate themselves to certain community responsibilities.

Sal DiMucci tells us that he's on the community "sucker list." On the contrary, it's obvious to us that the community is on his "sucker list" and is there to stay until the community itself rises up to do something about it.

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

Growth of Rururbia Makes Great Demands on Churches

by WILLIAM O. McGILL

In the growth of what might be called "rururbia" — that is, the urban filling in of communities which have been rural—one of the community-building institutions of which great things are expected is the church. It must be recognized that churches partake of the culture which they influence.

WE LOOK to the religious institutions to supply a specific quality to the development of community life, but we are inclined to forget that churches are frequently composed of the very persons for whom this supply is needed.

What do we seek of churches in the rururban transition? For one thing, we seek stability. As the increasing network of highways develops, Aurora may soon be nearer to the Loop, in minutes, than Evanston ever was. As industrial parks develop where corn and wheat once waved in the prairie breeze, a new impact of change spreads over the prairies.

BUT STEEPLES cast their shadows on field and factory, on lanes and highways. The church says for people involved in change.

"Change . . in all around I see,
Thou who changest not, abide

A second thing which we expect of churches in areas of transition is a reinforcement of the mores. The community-building service of the church is here: In the affirmation that there are ways that persons ought to behave.

VICTOR OBENHAUS, of the Federated Faculty at the University of Chicago, uses a comparison suggested by Ferdinand Tawney of the Gemeinschaft and the Gesellschaft qualities of community. Gemeinschaft is the comfortable, face to face, comradely relationship we think of as part of small communities. It is the reclamation process in action. When Johnny goes wrong, his failure is understood in terms of his family relationship, his activities in school. The community closes ranks, as it were, to keep Johnny in line. There is no interposition of the juvenile officer, no formal court relationship.

The Gesellschaft is the contractual type of corporate relationship. Activities are spelled out in terms of ordinances, laws, enforcement officers.

The new residents of rururbia want a spirit of Gemeinschaft primarily, but they also want what seems to them a reasonable Gesellschaft. For whatever it may be worth, the average city-dweller believes that the precinct-captain is a more potent swayer of corporate activity than the police officer. The city dweller particularly believes that it is a matter of whom you know which obtains justice, or better than justice —satisfaction.

UNFORTUNATELY, what the community fears is the importing of the city-dweller's practices. For these are not founded on common mores—a general acceptance of manners and morals for the whole community.

What we look to the churches—and therefore, to ourselves as members of the churches—to do is to re-examine our practices and our desires, to point to the eternal grace which is available, and to provide a setting in which together we can work to make reclamation of human resources practicable in every local community.

Suddenly, it becomes obvious that there is no place in metropolitan centers for religious competition between institutions or groups. The task of building community, or reclaiming human resources, is bigger than specific building programs.

BILL COOK
Mean's Better Used Cars

There are two ways to consider a used car, if you want to make a wise purchase.

One way is to scrutinize the car itself — listen to the engine, check the body and the interior carefully. (And we're glad to have you inspect any of our good cars as minutely as you wish—for we've put them through the repair shop, for complete reconditioning by skilled mechanics!)

The other way is to take the measure of the place you buy from.

We're responsible merchants dealing with responsible people. We know that it pays to sell reliable cars (that's why we're Buick dealers!). We have a service department with every mechanic Buick-trained.

And when it comes to used cars, you'll find us equally responsible. We give every car an honest inspection—do a real repair job when repairs are needed—and deliver a car to you that you'll be glad to own. Most are one-owner cars—priced so your own car will more than cover the down payment. Come and see them now!

Farmers Urged to Figure Cost before Irrigating

Illinois farmers were urged this week to figure costs and returns carefully before investing in irrigation.

Velmar Davis, USDA agricultural economist working at the University of Illinois, pointed out that farmers are often impressed with the high yields obtained by irrigating during dry years. But they fail to consider the costs of getting that extra yield.

IRRIGATION IS costly, Davis stated. Success with irrigation requires high-level management and know-how in all practices that affect crop production and operation costs.

Davis pointed out that farmers must consider three types of costs. These are the original investment, such as drilling a well or building a reservoir and the pumping and distributing equipment; the annual overhead costs, such as depreciation, interest and taxes, which are about the same no matter how much the system is used; and the annual operating costs, such as fuel, labor and repairs, that vary with the amount of use.

FARMERS ARE URGED to get an estimate from their dealers on the cost of an irrigation system on their farms. Then they should figure the annual costs of owning and operating it. For a system that costs about $150 an acre to start with, Davis estimates that the annual overhead costs will be about $15.60, or about $10.50 to make three 2-inch applications of water. So in this case a farmer would need an extra crop income of $26.10 an acre to recover his irrigation costs.

Davis figures that, if corn is worth $1.20 a bushel, it will take 27 more bushels of corn an acre to break even with this irrigation system. Besides the cost of irrigation, a farmer would have additional costs for fertilizer, seed, harvesting and hauling the extra corn. If corn is worth only $1.00 a bushel, the corn would have to yield 35 bushels more.

WHEN A FARMER with irrigation changes his water application rate, he also changes the number of bushels needed to break even. For each additional two inches of water applied, farmers will need about five more bushels of corn to cover irrigation operating costs and the increased costs of fertilizer, harvesting and hauling when corn is $1.00 a bushel, four bushels more when corn is $1.20 and three bushels more when corn is $1.40.

More detailed information about irrigation costs, returns and experiences of farmers can be obtained from the Department of Agricultural Economics, University of Illinois, Urbana. Ask for Farm Management Facts and Opinions Nos. 162 and 163.

Economist States Causes For Business Recession

by L. H. SIMERL

For its size, the present business recession is probably the most talked about in history. In spite of, or because of, this great amount of talk, the basic causes and nature of the recession are not generally understood. It may be well, therefore, to review developments leading to the recession and to list some little-observed, but basic, facts about it:

. DURING WORLD War II a vast amount of money was created and put into the pockets and bank accounts of the people. The amount of currency in circulation went up from seven billion dollars in 1939 to 28 billion dollars in 1945. During the same time, bank deposits swelled from 57 billion to 148 billion dollars.

2. SAVINGS increased greatly during the war. During four war years the accumulation of personal savings amounted to about 30 billion dollars a year, ten times the pre-war rate. Business savings — undistributed corporate profits—went up from below zero before the war to an accumulation of 25 billion dollars at the war's end.

. MANY NEEDS and wants accumulated during the war. Individuals and families wanted new automobiles, houses, furniture, household appliances, etc. Businesses wanted new factories, stores and equipment. The desire and ability to spend created full employment, with two minor recessions, for 12 years.

During this 12-year spending spree many wants were satisfied and — more importantly — large debts were accumulated:

1. BUSINESS SPENT over 300 billion dollars for new plants and equipment. Capacity for producing manufactured items was increased about 50 per cent. Corporate debt increased from 95 billion to 210 billion dollars.

2. THIRTEEN MILLION families built or bought new houses, three times as many as in a like period before the war. The debt on homes increased from 19 billion to 105 billion dollars.

3. DURING THE same 12 years the American people bought 60 million new cars. Automobiles on streets and highways increased from 25 million in 1946 to 57 million in 1957. We now have one car for every three persons (everyone could ride in the front seat at the same time). Auto buyers now owe 15 billion dollars in installment payments on their cars compared with almost nothing at the end of the war.

4. FAMILIES BOUGHT large amounts of new furniture, appliances and other things—many on "easy" credit. Consumer debt now totals about 25 billion dollars, not counting what is owed on homes and automobiles. This debt is five times as large as it was when World War II ended.

During this long spending spree many families got over their heads in debt. In recent months they have slowed up their buying. Businesses have cut their spending even more than families. But debts have been reduced only slightly. People are being urged to buy. But whether families and businesses are willing to take on more and bigger debts remains to be seen. If they are not, then the recession will continue for at least several months, even though there is increased production in some industries, such as steel. (Fm

State Farm Tax At Record Peak

Illinois farm land owners will pay more than $100 million in real estate taxes for 1958, according to estimates made today by C. L. Stewart, University of Illinois land economist.

Speaking before the annual summer conference of farm advisers this week, Stewart pointed out that this amount is nearly $3 million more than the total paid by California land owners and over $15 million more than by Iowa farm owners.

From 1940 to 1956, Illinois farm real estate taxes jumped by 220 per cent. All other states also showed increases, but not this much, the land economist pointed out. For all 48 states, the average rise for the 15 year period was 133 per cent.

While Illinois owners hold 7.1 per cent of the nation's total farm real estate value, they are assessed for 9.8 per cent of the farm realty taxes.

Expressed in terms of value, Stewart estimates that Illinois taxes will be more than $1.25 per $100 value in 1958. In 1956, real estate taxes took 9.2 per cent of the net income per acre. In 1954 this figure was 8.4 and in 1951 6.1 per cent.

Stewart stressed three major areas where clearer understanding of Illinois farm tax problems is needed.

Those laying assessments and judging soundness of assessments must clearly recognize the difference among soil types and their effects upon land values.

Land values in different parts of a county may be difficult to recognize when so few farms are now being sold. This makes it difficult to intelligently apply multipliers to keep assessments in line between townships. Multipliers applied separately to farm and non-farm real estate would be an improvement.

Real estate tax burdens might be relieved if such government units as townships and counties were consolidated and if other types of taxes were allowed to share more of the cost of government, Stewart concluded. (Fm

Don't Use Pesticides On Livestock

Never use plant pesticides on livestock, says Dr. R. P. Link of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Though the same material as is used to control plant pests may also be used in preparations designated for use on animals, the concentration and chemical formulation may be vastly different. And the difference can mean a sick animal. Farm livestock are most commonly poisoned when the insecticides are absorbed through the skin, licked from the hair coat or eaten on treated pasture or forage. Avoid these dangers by using the insecticide according to the manufacturer's directions, says Dr. Link.

MOST ORGANIC phosphate insecticides are so highly poisonous that they should not be used on livestock. However, they can be used on crops if the feed is not given to livestock until the insecticides have disappeared. This will take from a few days to three weeks.

Lindane, Chlordane, methoxychlor and DDT can be safely used on domestic animals in the wettable powder form. Oil solutions, however, often cause poisoning by being absorbed through the skin.

Another possible cause of poisoning may come from animals' licking the insecticide from their hair, but this is hard to prevent, points out Dr. Link. If the insecticide is to have a lasting effect, some of it will have to stay on the animal.

ANY OF THE new insecticides can be used without danger of residues on crops, provided enough time is allowed between spraying and grazing or harvesting.

Dr. Link says this time interval will vary with the insecticide and the weather. Rain may wash off much of the residue, and dry, windy weather will also hasten removal. But cool, still weather will let the chemical stay on the plant longer.

Down on the Farm

I looked over a demonstration one day recently, where Iverton was used to spray weeds along the highway. This is a new product still in the experimental stage. It is an inverted 2-4-D spray. Instead of the water being around the oil particles, the oil particles are around the water, thus causing little or no drift.

In this particular demonstration the spray was applied along the side of a tomato field. There was a 20 mile an hour wind blowing towards the tomato field. The spray was applied May 26. Ten days later there was no damage to the tomatoes whatever.

It looks as if this product may be the answer to our problems. This product may be able to be used as a spray in the vegetable areas and no damage will result from drift or volatile gases.

IN THIS DAMP weather a 60 watt light left burning in a small closet will keep it dry enough to prevent mildew.

CULLING THE right cow is one of the basic herd management practices that are so important in building a profitable dairy herd. Any herd regardless of production level, can be improved by continually eliminating lower producers. Production records obtained through Dairy Herd Improvement associations are the best way to know which cows should be culled. Now is a good time to sell the low producers for they bring a good price on the market.

DROWNINGS, according to the National Safety Council, took more than 1,600 lives during the past five years. About one out of four drowning victims was a child under five years of age.

The reason? Uncovered wells and unguarded swimming areas.

Shopping Prospect Heights

by CAROL BUNTING

Summer arrives officially Saturday and with it comes those long, hot, lazy afternoons on Saturday and Sunday when the man of the house has a chance to really relax.

Summer and its hot weather means that more and more tall cool drinks are going to be consumed by our population. Fortunately the residents of Prospect Heights and the surrounding area have a fabulous shop from which to select all of their liquid refreshments.

NATURALLY WE ARE speaking of the Heights Liquor store and whether your tastes run into the hard liquor lines or your glasses are going to be reserved for the soft drinks this summer, you must be sure to make your selections at the Heights Liquor store in Prospect Heights. Here you will find one of the largest selections in the area at unheard of low prices. Not only will you get what you want in just one stop but you will save countless pennies when you do it.

The Heights Liquor store is as up to date as possible. It is completely self-service and all you have to do is come in and browse until you make all of your selections. Their is no time wasted waiting for a busy clerk—you just find what you want and take it to the speedy check-out counters.

In addition to having one of the largest stocks of all types of drinks, the store has a clever line of amusing gift items, and all of the fancy decanter type bottles. They also have all types of glasses that you may borrow for parties and as long as they have ice cubes they give them away to their customers for nothing.

You will find that the Heights Liquor store makes it well worth your while to come in and do your shopping right here in Prospect Heights.

WHILE THE LIQUOR store is hoping that Dad will have a chance to relax and enjoy the hot summer days, its a sure thing that mother is going to try to get him to start sprucing up the house inside and out. She knows that the best place for him to select his equipment is at Jacob's Hardware and Supply of Prospect Heights. Their paint department features Elliotts paints and color harmonies. You may select from hundreds of different colors and shades in both flat, semi-gloss, and gloss finishes. They carry both the super satin latex and house paints.

If your family has a budding artist among its midst perhaps you would be interested in making your own frames for the pictures. It can be done now and they look as professional as many you will see in other shops. Waddell picture frame moulding is the product carried by Jacobs and you purchase the necessary length, cut it, put it together and give it a coat of paint or what ever you want. There are four styles to select from in both one and two inch widths.

In keeping with their services as a hardware store, Jacob's Hardware and Supply has a complete plumbing equipment department. They are equipped to cut and thread all types and sizes of pipe and they also do custom glass cutting.

This hardware store is open seven days a week for the convenience of the customers and especially for those who are able to shop only in the evenings and on Sunday mornings.

They also have a complete light bulb exchange department for your convenience. (PH
